Publisher Emeritus A Waveland resident was arrested last week and charged with alleged prescription forgery, according to Hancock County Sheriff Steve Garber.

"A call was received from Diamondhead Pharmacy Wednesday, reporting a suspect requesting a prescription filled, it appeared to be a forgery, according to the pharmacist," Major Matt Karl, Hancock County Sheriff's Narcotics Division director

"The forged prescription was allegedly written by Dr. Irene Koskan, and the pharmacist felt it did not look right. The suspect had left the prescription to be filled. When we responded to the drug store and were in conversation with the pharmacist, they received a telephone call to be on the lookout for a person trying to use phony prescriptions from Gulf Coast Medical Center. Clinic providing health care to all

BY SHANNON JENKINS Staff Writer

ucked away in a corner of the Town Market Shopping Center is a facility that provides health care services to everyone — whether they have insurance or not.

This facility in Bay St. Louis belongs to the Coastal Family Health Center (CFHC), which has sites all along the Coast. The Bay St. Louis clinic offers primary medical care for adults and children, social services, pharmaceutical assistance and WIC services.

Like the first CFHC that opened 25 years ago, the Bay St. Louis clinic was "established with a special focus on providing access to primary heath care to families who had no private health insurance and inadequate income to purchase private from care providers."

Its services, however, are not limited to these families and individuals. CFHC operates on a sliding scale according to income and services patients regardless of insurance status.

'No one needs to go without health care in Hancock County," said Camille Tate, a CFHC board member from Bay St. Louis. "That's our thrust."

Susie Staats-Puffer, a certified nurse practitioner at the Bay St. Louis site, agreed.

"I have always believed that health care should be a right for every individual," Puffer said.

"Working at CFHC enables me to assist all individuals seeking assistance

As part of Coastal Family Health Center's 25th anniversary, the Bay St. Louis clinic will conduct an open house Sept. 24 from 1 to 4 p.m.

"In Hancock County, the open house is a way of thanking the public for supporting us," said Camille Tate, a CFHC board member.

Patients, staffs and boards of community agencies, elected officials and the general public are encouraged to attend.

Dr. Shama I. Shakir, a pediatrician, has been with CFHC since December 2001 and has 18 years of experience in the medical field.

"I have always wanted to work like a family doctor, and that is possible only in a clinic-based practice," Shakir said. "I have worked mostly in hospitals but this has been the best place I have worked so far."

Shakir said CFHC has allowed her to grow close to her patients.

"My personal objective is to gain the love and confidence of my patients, to be accessible to them when they need me and to do what is right for them," she said. "CFHC, through its prompt staff and answering service, have brought me close to my objective."

She said the staff never shies from doing extra work like taking messages and delivering them to her. The clinic has also given Shakir the opportunity to delve into her work.

Since this is almost the first time I am working independently - without the headache of the administrative work - with a very supportive and active staff, I have grown to love my job more and more," she said.

"I am learning and seeing a lot of new things in my practice and as they say the experience just helps you to deal better with your patients. CFHC has helped me achieve my dream prac-years, with more than one cine for the last five years at CFHC, said the clinic has helped him recognize the diversity of patients.

"It feels better to help the needy patient population," he said.

Khan, who has worked in the medical field for 15 years, said his objective as a physician is to gain experience, and the center has helped him accomplish this through its many services.

However, Khan said he would like to see the center get an optometrist, a dentist and a nutritionist. Tate, who also works on the community relations committee, said increasing the clinic's services by adding different specialists depends on moneys and population.

CFHC officials also have plans to find a more visible location for the Bay St. Louis clinic, which is grantbased.

"We're in the process of investing in Hancock County and planning to increase the space of our facility for patients and staff," Tate said. "We want to be more self-standing."

Bay St. Louis patients do not have to wait for the clinic to expand its services to receive dental and optometric care; they are encouraged to seek this care from the other CFHC clinics on the Coast.

CFHC also offers assistance in substance abuse counseling and special care for HIV-positive patients. The Bay St. Louis branch has a psychiatrist who sees patients one day per week.

The Hancock County I-10 Welcome Center celebrated its re-opening on Friday in fine style - taking part in the statewide Mississippi Welcome Center system's Year of the Blues celebration. Ray Nobles of Bay St. Louis, left, and Frank Hopson of Picayune performed for a huge crowd of visitors to the center. The center had been closed for paving.

Southern Regional scales back its 2003/04 budget

Plan still includes employee raises

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER Staff Writer

of the board Regional Southern Wastewater Management District has approved a reduced 2003/2004 budget. The original draft proposed total expenditures of $2,322,643, but administrator Cheryl Colson was able to reduce expenditures by an additional $50,000 before final approval, bringing the final approved totals to $2,272,643 for the 2003/2004 fiscal year.

Almost half of 2003/2004 will be used for the district's debt service which increased significantly as a result of loans secured for a recent $11 million upgrade. Originally, Colson had proposed a seven percent salary increase across the board for district employees, but reduced the request to a five percent increase across the board. Colson also asked that a part-time office employee be promoted to full-time. An additional employee, a laborer, will be hired after Christmas, she said, to assist in the running of the plant works. Besides the cut in proposed salaries, Colson said she was able to save dollars on the cost of employee uniforms and on travel and training costs. The increase in insurance was also less than originally expected, she said.

Plant management saw a reduction from originally proposed expenditures of $945,000 to $922,000. The area of administration saw reductions from $306,000 to $279,000.

In other business: The board voted to approve the use of a new formula for calculating the cost sharing of the district's customers. Hancock Water and Sewer District complained that the formula proposed in recently signed contracts was not fair to their district because it favored customers with leaky collection systems. The formula was based partly on BOD's or concentration of solids in wastewater. Systems with little or no dilution from rain water have higher concentrations of BOD's.

The exact formula that will be used has yet to be determined and will likely require the re-approval of all the district's customers.

I am a person of sound background and good standing in the community. I am neither sponsored by nor supported by any corporation, company or individual. I am my own person and I will represent all of the people of District 1 and of Hancock County. I will be starting off with a clean slate. Everyone will be listened to no matter what your last name is, where you live, if you are from here or not or what race you are. No baggage, no old vendettas, no ax to grind with anyone. I will offer good government and be available to everyone. I have ideas and thoughts of my own but your thoughts and ideas on what the problems are and how to fix them are of the utmost importance to me. I do not give any false promises of jobs, positions or anything of that nature. I am not for increasing taxes but I am for better spending constraints and better decision making on money matters. What I do not know I have the ability to find out. The growth and development of District I and Hancock County lies in the hands of the people. Another thing of great importance is that people can vote for me even though they voted the democratic ballot in the primary. We either stick together and win or stay divided and fall. Pass Christian will host 'Collage: Art in the Park' and 'Celebrate the Gulf'

Pass Christian is the happening place to be during the weekend of Sept. 27-28 when two free festivals will offer a variety of original art, marine activities for all ages and interests, and plenty of food and cold

For the 10th year, the Collage art festival, "Art in the Park," will be held 10 a.m.-5 p.m. both days in War Memorial Park, and the "Celebrate the Gulf" Marine Education Festival will be held Sept. 27, 10 a.m.-4 p.m., at the harbor just across US. Hwy. 90. Parking is free, and on Sept. 27 a free trolley will transport festival-goers between the two festivals.

Thousands are expected to attend the events, held each year during the last weekend in September.

Collage "Art in the Park" Sept. 27-28

During both days, the tree-shaded Art in the Park will feature a wide selection of original art, music by Gulf Coast native Bobby Allison, a Food Court, art demonstrations, pencil portrait sketching, face painting for children, and festival T-shirts.

The annual Silent Auction, a collection of original works of art donated by the participating artists, supports the Dot Hector Memorial Art Scholarship which is presented each year to a Pass Christian High School art student.

ceremonies Opening begin at 10 a.m. with a presentation by the choruses of Pass Christian middle and high schools.

In addition to the skilled Gulf Coast artists, the festival includes many who travel from distant states, and last years event grew to nearly 70 art exhibitors.

"We are very excited about many new artists who will be participating this vear," said Collage Art in the Park chairman Kathie Short. "The quality and diversity of art brought by exhibitors has improved in recent years. Artists must be approved for entry in the festival, so our committee views photographs of their work sent in with their registration forms. And we have been delighted with the originality we have seen in their work."

Over 50 artists in the park will offer all mediums of paintings and drawings, sculpture (clay, wood and metal), woodturnings, glass art items, stained-glass, mosaics, hand-crafted and handmade jewelry, decorative and functional pottery (thrown and hand-built), hand-loomed ceramics, woven creations, paper mache, gem and lapidary art, picture frames, photogpainted furniture, lawn furniture, wind chimes, yard ornaments. This year's Food Court will a great choice of food and drinks, including hot dogs, hamburgers, barbecue, shrimp sausages, alligator sausages and crawfish sausages, and sweets, as well as cold water, beer, wine coolers and soft drinks. 'Celebrate the Gulf' Sept. 27

Down at the harbor, on that Saturday only, activities at "Celebrate the Gulf" begin with a Junior Fishing Rodeo for children age 12 and under, from 8 to 11 a.m.., and the public boat ramp will be closed all day for the festival.

At 10 a.m. the fun officially begins with Marine Cuisine Booths, marine and environmental hands-on exhibits for children and adults, live music, and popcorn, hot dogs and cold drinks.

Demonstrations include canoeing, flyfishing and cast net throwing, as well as the preparation and cooking of seafood.

Free rides will be offered on the schooner the Glenn L. Swetmann, as space allows, and there will be a sailboat race around Cat Island, sponsored by the Pass Christian Yacht Club.

Sponsor's of 'Celebrate the Gulf' are the Mississippi Department of Marine Resources/Grand Bay Estuarine National Reserve, Research Mississippi Power Co., Northrup Grumman Ship Systems, Gulf of Mexico Program, City of Pass Christian, ChevronTexaco and DUPONT.

Arts & Crafts in Diamondhead, fine food in Bay ou do not want to forget the 20th Annual Arts & Crafts Show at Diamondhead today from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

This event is one in which many folks begin their Christmas shopping, as there will be some 165 craft booths.

The Arts & Crafts Show is by the Diamondhead Country Club and bus transportation is available from the Diamondhead Shopping Center's parking lot. The air conditioned bus will deliver you to when the action is, and return at your convenience.

Many of the arts and crafts dealers at the Diamondhead Arts & Crafts Show have been regulars for many years. And the numbers increase each year with new vendors too.

I know that Linda Wallace and Brierley Acker stay busy each year making sure only the best of exhibitors are at the Arts & Crafts Show.

Of course there will be refreshments, sandwiches, etc., available too.

An added feature this vear will be at the Diamondhead Airport's celebration of the 100th anniversary of flight.

There is a display of antique and contemporary aircraft and a visiting astronaut from the Stennis Space Center.

Sounds like it will be a busy day in Diamondhead.

Do not forget this is the final day of the Our Lady Academy's International Food Festival.

The Food Festival offers all types of foods and refreshments and is located on the Our Lady of the Gulf grounds, 220 S. Beach Blvd., Bay St. Louis.

Live entertainment this afternoon from 1 to 5 p.m. will be Keith Hoda.

There will be all types of arts & crafts booths, something for folks of all ages.

It will not be too long before Cruisin' the Coast 2003 happens along the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

The event will bring some 25,000 folks to the Bay St. Louis area for October 9-11.

There are some 5,000 vehicles registered for this year's Cruisin' the Coast which will make it a great time for the area.

We will be bringing you more information as the time nears.

Generally I favor deregulation, but the broadcast airwaves require active federal involvement. That's because the broadcast airwaves are a public property owned by you and me. president's request for an additional $87 billion to fund the ongoing war in Iraq, then Congress also can raise an additional $1.8 billion next year, and a $3 billion increase the following year, to meet the health care needs of veterans from the war on terror and earlier periods of service. That is the position of John A. Brieden III, national commander of the 2.8 millionmember American Legion. who testified today before a joint session of House and Senate veterans' affairs committees.

"A grateful nation does not commit its own to battle, then retreat from its moral obligation to them," Brieden said. "The founders of The American Legion made it their civic duty to remind America of that fact. That's the reason they successfully fought, after World War I, for the creation of a federal agency to address the unique needs of veterans. Today, my American Legion family and I come before Congress bearing the torch of our founders. We want the Congress and the President of the United States to continue to 'pro-

If Congress can meet the vide for the common defence,' as the Constitution requires. And we want them to provide the just benefits that a grateful nation owes those who return from Iraq as well as others who served honorably in the U.S. armed forces. They earned it. There are good people in Congress, in both major political parties, who know we speak the truth. If the ever-present courage of our men and women in the armed forces exists also in Congress and did not exactly come to the rescue. The panel voted to makeup $1.5 billion of the shortfall, but gave the White House control over most of the money, instead of sending it to veterans' health care.

There are telltale signs that the health care system that serves America's veterans needs more money. The American Legion's "I Am Not A Number" survey in May identified scores of the more than 200,000 veterans who must wait from six months to two years for their initial primary-care appointments Additionally, about 164,000 veterans in the lowest of VA's eight priority -treatment groups have been suspended from enrolling in the VA health care system because it lacks the resources to serve additional veterans. Recent news media accounts of service members from the war on terror failing to access the system in a timely manner were glaring indicators that VA health care, albeit of sound quality by a myriad of standards, is hard to access because of chronic under-funding. The latter includes a front-page report in the Aug. 12 edition of The Wall Street Journal.

Today a number of big national newspaper chains have expressed interest in buying many more broadcast holdings. Let's look at this real closely.

too Already many American cities of any size have only one major daily newspaper - often owned by a national chain - which essentially holds a monopoly on the local print market. The days of fierce competition among daily crosstown newspapers are long gone, and if you want to read or advertise in a daily newspaper, there is usually only one game in town, and it is likely owned by a big national chain. So, why would it be in consumers' best interest to see this

It would mean fewer sources of news, information and advertising for Mississippians.

In any business, the more ownership is concentrated, the less incentive an enterprise - from lemonade stand to supercomputer manufacturer - has to serve consumers like you and me. In the future, I hope the FCC will consult more with Congress and the public to promote more competition, more choice and more local ownership of stations that use our public airwaves.

Gambler's Anonymous begins in Bay St. Louis

Anonymous (G.A.) meeting escape worry or trouble?, has been established in Bay St. Louis, thus being the only G.A. meeting in Hancock County. With the casino industry continually growing on the coast, the need for G.A. meetings has grown. It's important for someone with a gambling problem to know that they is help and support avail-

Gambler's Anonymous was founded in 1957 and is similar to the Alcoholics Anonymous 12 step meeting. The purpose of G.A. meetings is to provide fellowship, hope and strength to people with gambling problems. The meetings are chaired by gamblers who, themselves are recovering and what to share and support others who also wish to stop gam-

Besides 12 steps, there is a list of 20 questions. Most compulsive gamblers will answer yes to at least seven of the 20. A few of the most common questions compulsive gamblers answer yes to are: #1 - Did you ever lose time from work or school due to gambling? #5 - Did you ever gamble to get money with which to pay debts or otherwise solve financial difficulties?, #8 -After a win did you have a strong urge to return and win more? # 14 - Did you ever gamble longer than you had planned?# 15 -

Gambler's Have you ever gambled to, and # 17 - Did gambling cause you to have difficulty in sleeping?

"One reason for starting a meeting in our area was to provide people in Hancock County, particularly the Bay/Waveland area, a chance to go to a weekly G.A. meeting without havare not alone and that there ing to travel far. But the main reason was to provide help to those in the area who are not familiar with the G.A. program." says Mike P., the founder of the Bay/Waveland G.A. meet-

> Since the first meeting in April, there has been a very good response. People have come from as far as Slidell, LA. to the meeting, however most who attend are from the Bay/Waveland area.

The Bay/Waveland G.A. meeting is held at Hancock Medical Center, in the class room (next to the cafeteria), on Tuesday evenings at 8:00 p.m. It is an open meeting, which means a newcomer may bring a family member or friend and people from other 12 step groups may also attend the meeting.

Vuyovich, of Hattiesburg, and Starr Renee' Chapman, of Waveland, has burned the in Mississippi, California, Louisiana. Washington Tennessee, and Michigan. The duo are on their way to the Ohio Star Ball in Columbus, the Superbowl of ballroom competition.

At the Southeastern States Dancesport Championship, held in Biloxi, Mississippi, Kelly and Starr won the American Rhythm Championship, Smooth Championship, the Five Dance Superbowl, and the Open Theatrical Arts Competition. In New Orleans, Louisiana, the Open Theatrical. Arts, Rhythm American Championship, the Five Dance Superbowl, and the Overall Performance titles were won by Kelly and Staff.

Next in Los Angeles, California, at the Emerald Ball, hosted in association with the American Ballroom Company, Kelly and Staff competed against entrants as far away as Hong Kong and Japan. With over 10,000 entries, they won First Place in the Solo Exhibition beating more than 30 couples. Later that day, Kelly and Starr were a total of 15 dances, to win the American Rhythm Championship and the Overall Performance trophy.

Washington, D. C., home of the Virginia State Dancesport Championship, was the next stop as Kelly and Starr won the American Dancesport Rhythm Championship and Open Theatrical Arts competition. Immediately following D.C., Kelly and Starr flew to Nashville as their string of wins increased. There they won the American Rhythm title.

Kelly and Staff were invited to the Midwest Invitational in Dearborn, Michigan, where once again the duo struck gold. Winning the American Rhythm title and the Smooth Dancesport Championship capped off a nice run for the twosome.

Before Kelly and Starr head to the Ohio Star Ball, they will be performing in Hattiesburg, on November 9th for the Annual Alzheimer's Benefit. This benefit, dinner, dancing, and a professional show, will feature the brother and sister team of Yumiya and Rara Yawata.

The Yawatas will be coming all the way from Japan perform in this Extravaganza. For tickets Illuminations call DanceSport Studio of called back three times, for Hattiesburg at 601-261-

St. Clare Catholic Church re-establishing annual fair

After seven years, St.

Clare Catholic Church in Waveland is bringing back it's annual fair.

St. Clare's very first fair was held in 1953. The parishioners held the fair as a surprise for their pastor, Michael Costello. It was then held for 43 consecutive vears. Since an annual fair substantially helps raise money for the parish and it's many ministries, it was decided, this year, to bring the fair back. "We've received a lot of encouraging comments from people when hearing that we are bringing back the old

St. Clare fair. Many reminisce about going to the fair when they were young and are happy that we are bringing back a fair that is designed to entertain children." says Carlos Lozano, co-chairman of the fair.

All of the fun and excitement kicks off on Halloween night with Trick-or-Treating for children.

Other activities for the weekend include live entertainment, games, silent auctions, crafters, a white elephant booth, carnival rides, raffles, and lots of food, fun, prizes and surprises!

The fair will be held on the church grounds, Friday, October 31st, from 4 - 10 p.m., Saturday, November 1st, from 11 a.m. - 11 p.m., and on Sunday November 2nd, from noon - 6 p.m. Admission is free.

There are still spaces available for crafters; interested parties may call the church office for rental information. Anyone wishing to make a donation for support of the fair may also call the office or simply send it to: St. Clare Catholic Church, P.O. Box 500, Waveland, MS. 39576

CAROL TRAPANI

Carol Carver Trapani of. Bay St. Louis died Friday, Sept. 19, 2003 in Gulfport. She was born in Bay St. Louis on May 7, 1932.

She was a member of Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church; a member of the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club; and a member of the OLG Perpetual Adorners. She attended mass daily at St. Augustine Seminary. She was a board member of the Bay St. Louis Housing Authority.

In a brief statement, her family said "Our beloved wife and mother will be missed forever. She was defeated in a short battle with cancer, but succeeded in life. Her love for God and family has been instilled in our lives. Mom was surrounded by her supportive family as God welcomed her into Paradise. She was a summertime mother to her children's friends, and a dear friend to all who knew her. Her smile will be greatly missed, especially on Wednesdays at Trapani's Eatery.

Survivors include her husband Anthony "Trap" Trapani Jr. of Bay St. Louis; sons, Anthony three Trapani III of Waveland, Christopher F. Tobacco-free schools law

If you smoke, you're not crime and carries up to a just hurting yourself... you're hurting those around That's why all Mississippi public school events and property have been designated tobaccofree zones by law. So as you head out to football games and outer sporting events this fall, be aware that use of cigarettes, cigars, pipes and smokeless tobacco is a $150 fine. High school tobacco use in Mississippi has decreased by 23 percent since 1999.

Respecting state laws like this one ensures that all Mississippians are able to enjoy healthy environments.Brought to you by The Partnership for a Healthy Hancock and Pearl River County.

Hancock North Central teacher selected as consultant for Writing Project

THE SEA COAST ECHO ancock North Central Elementary first grade teacher, Sandra Smith, has been chosen as one of only ten Teacher Consultants to participate in a two-year program sponsored by the Live Oak Writing Project.

Smith's participation in the program began this summer when a series of educational experiences gave her and the other teachers a basis for creating curriculum for their classrooms that integrates art, writing, and science.

The curriculum will then be used to create staff development training modules so that their work can be shared with other schools in Mississippi.

In October, the ten teachers will travel to Horn Island to experience nature and the environment.

On the island, they will write, draw, paint and complete naturalistic observations as well as perform

BY CHRISTOPHER MAPP

Law enforcement officials on the Mississippi Gulf Coast have a new weapon in their fight against crime.

The Department of Justice has awarded an $844,475 grant to The University of Southern Mississippi that will estab lish a multilocation helpdesk system to benefit the Tri-County Regional Information Sharing System.

Replacing antiquated data-processing equipment and even hand-written records, this system allows Jackson counties to share criminal information via computer, which should enhance public safety.

The help desk will be a 24-hour service in each county designed to train first responders to become proficient with the new information-sharing technology, which was spearheaded by Harrison County Sheriff George Payne, Hancock County Sheriff Steve Garber and Jackson County Sheriff Mike Byrd.

This crime identification equipment and its supporting infrastructure are long overdue, said Dr. Julian Allen, director of the Public Safety Technology and Training Office at Southern Miss Gulf Coast. "We've got 13 local law enforcement agencies and 15 fire departments. But there is very little information technology between them. In some instances, their only means of information sharing is by picking up the telephone,"

Dr. Allen said. Dr. Allen said the help desk will act as a support structure for law enforcement and fire personnel who are learning to implement new technologies.

While in the field, first quickly become effective responders - including emergency medical service and civil defense personnel will use laptop computers to tie into a main information database. "Now firemen and police on the streets will have laptops with access to this information immediately," Dr. Allen said. "If someone's out there on the streets at midnight and they have a technical problem, he or she can call someone 24 hours a day for help (with the equipment)." Under a training program funded by Automated System Project, Hancock, Harrison and approximately 3.000 end users of the system will learn basic computer skills and job-oriented software applications. But the support doesn't stop there, Dr. Allen said.

Once the users are back at their workstations, they will have around the clock access to skilled troubleshooters who can provide real-time response to technical problems.

Allen added: "Regardless of how great a technology solution is developed and deployed, if the end users are not trained and supported through a type of helpdesk system, then the overall automated system project will be a failure."

Three help desks – one in each county – will be manned on a 24-hour basis by Southern Miss students versed in computer science or management information systems.

Dr. Allen said: "A tremendous number of problems encountered by end users of during implementation of new systems are created by their lack of understanding computer software. The problems are usually easy to fix by the help desk workers, allowing the end user to the technology available more accurately and quickly and through proper trainidentify danger." (Located on the site of the former historic Post Office)

Waveland Police arrest two suspects for alleged crack cocaine possession

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS Publisher Emeritus

Waveland Police arrested two suspects in separate incidents in connection with the possession of a controlled substance, crack cocaine, according to Police Chief Jimmy Varnell.

On September 13, at approximately 9:19 a.m., Officer Todd Blake arrested a suspect after suspicious activity occurred.

After further investigation, James Anthony Geoffrey, 24, 716 Tipped Lane, Waveland, was arreststance, crack cocaine, Varnell's report said.

Geoffrey was placed in the Hancock County Criminal Justice Facility with a bond set at $5.000. His initial Waveland Municipal Court appearance has been set for October 9. Varnell said.

Also on September 13, around 1:28 a.m., Sgt. Brent Anderson was dispatched along with other officers to the area of Necaise Street in reference to a suspicious vehicle.

"While Sgt. Anderson was in ed for possession of a controlled sub-route, he observed the vehicle in the area of Coleman and Central

"Upon further investigation, Sgt. Anderson arrested Michael Damon Lewis, 21, 610 Herlihy St., Waveland and charged him with possession of a controlled substance, crack cocaine," Varnell reports.

Lewis was placed in the Hancock County Criminal Justice Facility under a $10,000 bond. His initial Waveland Municipal Court appearance is scheduled for October 9, according to Varnell.

Hancock Hawks sink Gulfport's Admirals 23-12 to take home their third straight win

BY DWAYNE BREMER Contributing Writer

The Hancock Hawks won their third straight game Friday night, defeating the Gulfport Admirals 23-12 at Milner Stadium.

The Hawks (3-1), played sluggish at times, but some big plays and a solid defensive effort were enough to overcome a winless Admiral squad.

"We did not really have a lot of enthusiasm at times, and we could have played better, but it was a good effort, and we did some things a lot better," said Hawks head Coach Rocky Gaudin.

One thing that the Hawks did better was get their running game going. After switching to a spread offense this year, the Hawks have not been consistent on the ground. Friday night, however, the Hawks racked up nearly 200 yards rushing, and they were led by Senior Adonis "Blue" Washington, who tallied 142 yards on 21 carries.

Washington got it going early, as he took off on the second play of the game, and raced 69 yards for a Hawks touchdown. Justin Ratcliff boomed in the extra point, and the Hawks led 7-0 just :27 tseconds into the score. Shabazz McClellen took off on a 31yard scamper to the Hawks six, and the Admirals had a first-and-goal. The Hawks defense caught a break, as Jeremy Walker fumbled, and Tyler Ball recovered the ball at the five for the Hawks.

The Hawks defense kept the pressure up on the Admirals' next drive, as Matt Rayborn had a tackle for a five-yard loss, and Jonathan Lacoste sacked McClellen for a loss of 10 more. After a punt, the Hawks took over at the 43.

Jeremy Thomas connected with Steven Dauenhauer for a 12-yard pass, and on third down Thomas hit Daniel Spiers for 15 yards to the Admiral 25. Thomas then went deep, and hooked up with Myron Fairley for a 25-yard strike, and the Hawks' second touchdown. Ratcliff added the pointafter, and the Hawks led 14-0, with 10:04 to play in the first half.

The Admirals struck back quickly, as Lorenzo Duckworth answered with a 49-yard touchdown run on the next drive. The pointafter was no good, but the Admirals pulled close 14-6, with 9:40 left in the half.

The Admirals would

Admirals made a bid to tie again, thanks to a 40-yard drive to reach the Hawks tackled Walker before he pass from Greg Anderson to Richard Dubuisson, and after a 13-yard run by Walker, the Admirals had a first down at the Hawks 13.. Anderson went for the endzone, but Charles Bolden tipped the ball, and David Brown intercepted the pass in the endzone for the Hawks.

The Hawks fumbled the ball back right to the Admirals two plays later, and once again the Hawks defense was playing in their own red zone. The Hawks were up to the challenge though, as the stopped the Admirals on a fourth and goal from the six. The Hawks picked up a half with a 14-6 lead. The second half opened up with the Hawks defense making a big play. Anderson threw a swing pass to Duckworth, but Gerald Adams smashed Duckworth causing a fumble. Braxton Necaise fell on the ball at the 36. The Hawks cashed in three plays later, as Thomas threw to Brown, who made a fantastic leaping catch in the endzone for the score. Ratcliff added the point after, and the Hawks led 21-

one yard line. The Hawks defense then put a stop to the drive with their first goal line stand of the year. On first down, Anderson was stopped by Lacoste and Donald Hains for no gain. On second down Anderson tried another quarterback sneak but Adams and Robert Domke stuffed him for a short loss. After a false start penalty, Anderson threw incomplete, and on fourth-down pressure from Necaise and Lacoste, forced a bad throw, and the Hawks took over.

The Hawks did not pick up a first down, and the Admirals blocked the punt, to take over again at the first down, and went to the Hawks three.

This time there would be no stand, as Duckworth ran in a three-yard score. The extra point failed, and the score was now 21-12 with 2:06 to play in the third quarter.

The Hawks took over at the 19 after the kickoff, and they would pick up three first downs, before having to punt. Paul Verdin pinned the Admirals deep with a tó 37-yard boot Admirals four.

With time becoming a factor, the Admirals had to go to the air. Anderson threw a screen pass to Walker, but Jarrod. Barrios could get out of the endzone for a safety.

The two points gave the Hawks a 23-12 lead with 7:24 to play. -The Hawks defense would shut down the Admirals last two drives, as they would not cross midfield again. Domke ended the Admirals chances with an interception at the 40 with just over two minutes to play, and the Hawks ran out the clock on their third victory.

"Overall I think we have had a good pre district campaign. We have played some tough teams, and I think this Gulfport team has a lot of talent", Gaudin said.

The Hawks were balanced on offense, as Thomas threw for 115 yards on 11 competitions to go with 185 yards rushing.

On Defense there were a number of stars again, as Necaise tallied eight tackles, a fumble recovery and a pass defense. Barrios had seven tackles, two behind the line, and a safety. Rayborn had six tackles including three behind the line, and Donald Hains and had six tackles

The Hawks will now begin their district play, as they will travel to Brandon next Friday night. The Hawks beat the Bulldogs 7-3 last year.

For the second week in a row, the St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaws let mistakes get the best of them. The Rocks (1-3) dropped their final non-division game to the Greyhounds (3-1) of Ocean Springs 30-6. SSC was very much in the ballgame in the first half; however, the second half seemed as though it followed Murphy's Law - If anything yardline. bad can happen, it will. And, it did.

SSC head coach Casey Wittmann stated, "Tonight, we were not a very good football team. We made mistakes in all phases of the game. We felt like we won the first quarter and were very much in the game by halftime. We had everything to play for in the second half; however, we committed several crucial mistakes. Sometimes when the snowball effect begins to roll, it is hard to slow it down. Fortunately, the mistakes that we are committing are correctable mistakes. We just have to want to correct them. Next week, we have our first division game against East Central. We need to get back to work and correct our mistakes. A new season starts for us on Friday."

The two teams traded their opening possessions of the game. The Rocks got on the scoreboard for the only time of the night on their second possession. Senior fullback Matt Hoda carried the load during the series gaining 32 yards on six carries. The drive also featured a halfback pass by Rob Smith to Michael Cure for 33 yards. Hoda punched the ball in from five yards out with :40 remaining in the first quarter. The PAT was blocked leaving the score 6-0.

It took Ocean Springs just two plays to take the lead for good. Travis Williams broke free for a 77yard score with :00 left on the clock in the opening period. John Sablich connected on the PAT giving the Greyhounds a 7-6 lead.

SSC punted away to the Greyhounds on their next possesion. A strong defensive stand by Lee Klein, Michael Cure, Jordan Ellis, Nick Weinamnn, and Stefan Sofianos forced Ocean Springs into punt formation. The snap went over the head of the punter and the Rocks blocked the attempted kick. Zack Elkins appeared to recover

Down by just one score, the Rocks take over at their own 20 yardline following the ensuing kickoff. SSC was penalized 15 yards which pushed them back to their own five yardline. The Rocks were intercepted by a Greyhound defensive back who returned the ball five yards for the score. Sablich converted on the PAT making the score 20-6.

Again, the Rocks were in an offensive quagmire and couldn't get anything going and had to punt back to the Greyhounds. Ocean Springs stayed on the ground with the pigskin. After 11 plays, Andrew Watson scored from three yards out with 2:27 left in the third period. Watson toted the mail eight times for 26 yards on the drive. Sablich's PAT was good making the score 27-6.

Neither team was able to move the ball successfully on their next two possessions. The Greyhounds converted on a Sablich 44-yard field goal with 2:07 remaining in the game to make the fnal score 30-6.

The Rock defense managed to hold the Greyhound offense to 214 total yards but SSC lost three fumbles and threw a costly interception that was returned for a

Tigers control Pirates with balanced attack

BY MAURICE SINGLETON Contributing Writer

The Bay High Tigers opened District 8 4A play with a 35-19 win at Pass Christian on Friday night. The Tigers overcame a second half Pirates' rally with two fourth quarter touchdowns by junior Lorenzo Lewis, the first a 23-yard fumble recovery run, followed by 28 yards on an interception return.

Trailing the Tigers 21-6 at halftime, the Pirates rallied back with two quick scores in the closing minute and a half of the third quarter and the first four seconds of the fourth. With 1:16 remaining in the third quarter. Pass quarterback Jeffrey Hilliard hit Brandon Miller with a 6-yard strike in the end zone for the score.

Following the kickoff, the Pirates again found themselves in great field position with the recovery of a Bay lateral at the visitors 4 yardline. Facing a second and goal at the 2 yardline, Hilliard pounded his way behind the center for the touchdown. Although the Pirates failed on 2-point conversion attempts following their first two scores, the PAT kick was successful on their third touchdown of the night, as they trailed 21-19 with 11:56 remaining on the game clock.

On the ensuing kickoff, junior Antonio Hawkins sparked the Tigers, returning the kickoff 43-yards to midfield. An interference call moved the ball to the Lewis sparked the Tigers, the kickoff return). converting on a good play gone sour as Hawkins closed a 12-yard pass play from quarterback Zack Ferry with a fumble. Lewis picked up the loose ball at the Pirates 23 yardline on Pirates' to the endzone for the score. The Tigers led 28-19 following Kyle Moran's fourth successful PAT kick.

Two Pirates' possessions later, Hilliard, facing the pressure of needing two scores to win and not much time to get it done, dropped back and launched a 25yard desperation toss. But unfortunately for the Pirates, Lewis picked it off at the Pirates' 28 yardline and carried it into the endzone. Moran was perfect with his fifth PAT kick on the night to close the game's scoring.

The Tigers other three scores came on pass plays to Hawkins and Brad Ladner and on a 17-yard run by Moran. Moran rushed for 85 vards on 10 carries. Ferry completed 17 of 33 passes for 180 yards with one interception. Lewis combined for

"We got some isolations a stride and outraced four few times," said Tigers coach Glenn Williams. "We came out and worked hard this week. This is a testament to our coaching staff getting ready for this game."

Overall, the Tigers did a good job of stopping the Pirates. And the Pirates did a fair job of stopping themselves, committing four turnovers - 3 fumbles and an interception – in the first quarter alone. On their second possession, Hilliard completed what would have been a 60-yard pass play to Brandon Riley, but the ball was fumbled and recovered by the Tigers at their own 1 vardline. So, instead of taking an early lead, the Pirates played from behind all night.

The Tigers got on the scoreboard with 5:33 remaining in the first quarter. Ferry sailed a pass ahead of the field to a reaching Hawkins who made the

The Tigers extended their lead with a 10-yard touchdown pass from Ferry to Brad Ladner with 24 seconds remaining in the first half, giving the Tigers a 21-6 lead going into halftime. A 25-yard pass play from Ferry to Hawkins set up the score, giving the Tigers excellent field position at the Pass 13 yardline.

The Pirates managed the two second half scores, but the early turnovers were a bit too much for the young team to overcome.

"Our whole game plan was to hit the quicks," said Pirates BoVonderBruegge. "Three times we fumbled the ball (first quarter). You can't make those mental mistakes and expect to win. Those mistakes are killing us right now.

tapped the thermometer to make Lsure and it didn't change. The red line hovered between the marks for 68 and 70. I believed it. I bought the thermometer in the late '80s at Wal -Mart. It was a time when the greeter at the door really greeted you rather then just checked your packages. A lot of things had changed over the years but the thermometer at the end of our porch still gives accurate temperatures. In its own way it answered my tap with the fact that it was cool and it was autumn.

I was on the porch with Jennie and Holly. It was early Sunday morning and the sun was coming up behind a bank of gray dark clouds looking weirdly like an autumn moon. And it was cool, wonderfully cool. Last weekend, it was still summer with summer traffic and the heat and humidity had sat about us, sometimes swept back a decent distance by an onshore breeze, sometimes not. Then a couple of weeks ago we had Labor Day and fireworks. Fireworks, my gosh, those fireworks. were amazing, Continuous, going on for at least a half hour fireworks, sputtering up into the night sky from the end of Coleman Avenue. Then, as if a switch had been thrown, we have autumn.

Now, this weekend is without traffic, cool weather and non-stop football on television. We have cool, almost cold, rains (last night, one point three inches of rain) and we now can cut the lawn every other week. The sun comes up later and later each day and goes down earlier

With pansy season at hand, consider companion plantings that will not only look good this fall and winter but also offer a crescendo next spring. Try red tulips (top) with blue and white pansies or yellow tulip varieties (above) with their complementary violet-colored pansy.

Prepare beds for pansy planting

he crisp, 58degree mornings turn my thoughts to the planting season that is upon us. Once the summer heat lifts, a new gardening enthusiasm gets into the air, almost as much as during the spring.

During a program in Oxford last spring, I saw some unbelievable beds of pansies and tulips that I wish the entire state could . have Mississippians can grow tulips to rival anyone -we simply treat them as annuals.

With pansy season upon us, we need to consider companion plantings that will not only look good this fall and winter but also offer a crescendo next spring.

blends in the Delta and Ultima series are beautiful enough to make a pansy lover out of anyone.

As with almost any other flower, the key to success lies in bed preparation. Pansies do not perform well in tight, heavy soil. Amending the planting area is one of the best ways to have success over these conditions. Add organic matter such as fine pine bark (pieces less than one half inch), leaf mold, compost, peat and sand. Incorporating a 3to 4-inch layer of organic matter with the native soil allows the bed to be built up and provides excellent drainage.

This same organic matter will benefit gardens with an excessively sandy soil structure. These sandier soils dry quickly and allow for rapid leaching of nutrients. The organic matter will increase the water holding capacity greatly and will help hold in valuable nutrients.

Whatever kind of soil you have to work with, there is plenty of time to get the beds prepared properly.

After bed preparation, it is time to go shopping. As you buy pansies, consider interplanting with the spring bulbs. Plant

Mrs. DeeDee Palcaios' third grade class, at Waveland Elementary, held a donation drive last week to benefit the Waveland Animal shelter.

The students collected donations for pet food, cat litter, and cleaning supplies. On Friday, September 12, the students also performed the play, "Dogs are Worth it Charlie Brown," in order to educate everyone about the Waveland Animal Shelter, Waveland's leash law, and the importance of taking proper care of your pet. Third Grader, Amanda Solome said, "It is up to you to take care of your pets, to keep them safe and make them have a good life.

Rene Lick, director of the Waveland Animal Shelter, along with volunteers Paula Leoni and Mickey Evans, from the Friends of the Waveland Animal Shelter, visited the class with rescued dogs. Some of these dogs had gone through extensive training and are now used for hospice training. "I wanted to teach my students the importance of taking proper care of their pets and being an active member of the community. Waveland is so fortunate to have people such as Rene Lick and the other volunteers who not only work with the animals, but also educate the children on the "how tos" of responsible pet ownership" said Palacios.

Now we have autumn visitors, monarch butterflies, love bugs, and the five live in Canada Geese in the pond on Aiken Road have about 15 relatives that have dropped in on nights, we'll be sitting on they're way south.

Several of these had a fly by vesterday, going directly over our house. They flew in echelon slanted to the south. As we watched their noisy fly by, I told Stella that they were practicing the left side of a "V" formation. A short time later, the rest of the visitors flew over us, also in echelon only this time banked to the north. Stella went inside, telling me to call her when both groups got together.

Stella will try to stretch out the growing season in her garden with beans. lettuce and some more cucumbers (I love fresh cucumber sandwiches on Bunny bread).

She has planted more tomatoes and we will have these as well. Tomatoes seem sweeter when they come in at this late time of year and make wonderful sandwiches alone or garnishing a grilled hamburger.

I think the real reason we do so well now as opposed to earlier in the year is that it is cooler and Stella can spend more time puttering in the garden. Whatever, we will have garden fresh vegetables on our table for a month or two longer.

With the longer, drawn out evenings and cooler the porch longer and later. Last night before the rain. Stella and I watched the half moon sitting southeast of us in the darkened

Despite its halfness, its large, bright appearance spoke of what it would look like within the week. when it will become a full moon, a Harvest Moon.

Mars was nice to be so bright for us this year after all these eons of giving off a lesser light, but the moon is ours to see in all its shining glory every month and oh what a wonderful thing it is to have in our night sky. And now a harvest moon is growing for us to see before this new week ends.

Each year all this happens as summer slips into autumn. It comes as no surprise. But it carries with each occurrence a feeling of pleasant joy and deep renewed wonder.

with tulips like the beds in Oxford or with daffodils. You will be glad you did when they show off next spring.

Try red tulips with blue and white pansies or yellow tulip varieties with their complementary viopansy. let-colored Consider combining pansies like the Ultima Apricot shades with pink tulips, and then plant some Red Giant Mustard or Redbor kale. Try planting the tall, mounding Purple Rain pansy in front of a dianthus like Bouquet Purple or Amazon Purple. There are scores of wonderful combinations -even snapdragons combine well with pansies. Whatever you do, be aggressive and mass plant your pansies. Spot planting the pansy seldom yields the look you desire. Pansies are available in jumbo six packs to those grown in a 4- or 6- inch container. Larger plants in bloom give you the most immediate impact as well as a larger root system that aids in establishment. Be sure to mulch after planting.

various sizes ranging from

Many gardeners do not realize that pansies are heavy feeders. Feed with a light application of slowrelease fertilizer monthly or a diluted, water-soluble 20-20-20 every other week. Pay attention to soil moisture levels because cold fronts often drastically dry beds.

The pansy sits on the throne as the most popular fall and winter flower for a reason: they make the landscape sizzle. Get your beds prepared, mass them for the best effect and choose some nice companions for now and next spring.

Renovations

Downstairs a newly tiled handicapped accessible ramp has been added to the rear of the building along with an elevator, new modern handicapped accessible restrooms, and all new lighting.

The original tiled floor in the front of the building is slated to be polished before the official opening, said Kellar.

Stairway bannisters of oak wood have been stripped of old paint and refinished all the way up to the third floor.

Windows have been replaced in keeping with the original architecture. When at all possible planners retained original materials to be used in the and this renovations included old window glass and doorways. New doorways, such as those leading into restrooms have been refinished to closely match the finish on original doorways.

The second floor of the building probably exhibits the most dramatic change in the renovations. An old storage closet at the front of the building has been turned in to a spacious jury room with windows all around.

Two new handicapped accessible restrooms have been added to the rear entrance area near the elevator, along with a new judge's chambers. But the old courtroom and Board of Supervisors meeting room has perhaps change. The two rooms have been joined into one with the court on the right as you enter from the front of the building and the board area on the left. An acoustical folding wall will separate the two areas when necessary.

The larger room will be able to be used for town meetings, public hearings, election reports and results, county tax sales,

Pearl River Community College Museum opens

Pearl River Community College's museum, on the Poplarville campus, has undergone an expansion which has doubled the display square footage.

The museum, started two years ago, has seen an incredible growth with alumni contributing memorabilia from their college years at PRC.

Pearl River College began serving the public as Pearl River County Agricultural High School on Sept. 9, 1909 and added college freshman courses in 1921. Sophomore classes were added in the 1925-26 agricultural high school and junior college until 1960 when high school classes were transferred to the newly formed Poplarville Special Separate Municipal School District, ending the school's career as a boarding high school.

The museum celebrated its grand opening during homecoming of 2001.

"The alumni have been great about bringing clothing and memorabilia to share with our visitors," said Ronn Hague, museum director.

Earlier this month, alumnus

The school remained an Loicano of Bay St. Louis donated a 1960 letter jacket and warmup jacket and a scrapbook. Woody Alliston of Bay St. Louis, another PRCC alumnus, donated a 1961 national championship jacket.

Hague came up with the idea of preserving the unique history of the college after editing the school's history on the college's web site, which he oversees. "So many items of interest have been lost over the years," Hague said, "that it was important to provide a place to house these items of interest and historical significance."

Lolacano (center) of Bay St. Louis donates a 1960 letter jacket and warmup jacket to PRCC President William Lewis (left) and PRCC Development Foundation Director Donna Wilson Lee. The Jackets will be placed in the PRCC museum, which is located on the Poplarville campus.

adjoining office. The recent expansion and renovation took in 15 feet of an adjacent hall with plans to renovate and furnish the remainder of the large room in the future.

"We have doubled in size each of the two years we've been in existence," Hague said,

Hancock Hall, the museum memorabilia from our alumsoon expanded to include an ni family. Now, we just have to raise funds to renovate the remainder of the hall."

> The museum, which is open by appointment, is also open Thursday afternoons from 1 until 4 during the fall semester, with plans to open back up at the same time during the spring semester.

"Of course, we will be

It will open from 9-11 a.m. and again from 1-2 p.m., just prior to the Homecoming football game.

The Pearl River College Community Museum is funded by private donations. For additional information or to make an appointment to visit the museum, contact Ronn Hague at 403-1316.

THE SANCTITY OF THE PRIESTHOOD

BY MOSAIC LAW, THE ISRAELITES WERE COMPELLED TO PROTECT THE PRIESTHOOD FROM BODILY HARM AT ALL TIMES AND UNDER EVERY CIRCUMSTANCE BECAUSE THEIR OFFICE WAS SACRED, THIS BECAME A STRICT TRADITION. IT WAS SOMETHING NEVER TO BE QUESTIONED. ALL ACCEPTED IT AS AN UNBREAKABLE COMMAND, GENERATION AFTER GENERATION OBEYING THE INSTRUCTION. AFTER SO MANY YEARS OF BEING OBEDIENT TO THIS LAW, IMAGINE THE CONSTERNATION, THEN, OF SAUL'S ISRAELITE SOLDIERS WHEN HE ORDERED THEM TO KILL THE PRIESTS BECAUSE THEY HAD HELPED DAVID ESCAPE FROM SAUL'S MURDEROUS INTENT: (I SAM. 22:16,17)

AREA DEVOTIONAL & DIRECTORY PAGES

The trojan horse

Waiting to be picked up by my cousin, Charlia Lewis, my old 1984 trusty Oldsmobile Delta 88 sat in my driveway for a couple of months. I did not drive it, for the insurance had lapsed. About once a week or Reflections so, I fired up the engine to charge the battery and clear out some carbon.

LeDoux, SVD But about 8 p.m. Wednesday past, I peered out the window and was shocked to see the choir director's car in the space where the old flivver had been. Within a few seconds, my mind conjured up the worst of all scenarios. "They got it!" I said to myself unbelievingly. "Why didn't I have the club?" Despite the antiquity of the car, in spite of its 225,000 miles odometer reading, and perhaps because of that, the pain of loss was considerable and constant, in addition to the ever-present feeling of violation and insecurity.

Three days later, a call came from a neighborhood body man who had seen my car briefly in his shop about a year ago: "Father LeDoux's car is parked at a dead end of Rocheblave at Elysian Fields."

So, after calling the police and describing the position of the car to them, it was off to the races to see what was left of the 4-wheeled wonder. The car looked forlorn sitting there unmanned, immobile. There was no obvious damage, though hub caps and some nuts were missing from the rear wheels.

Moving closer, we noticed the wrecked tail pipe, the AC fan belt hanging beneath the hood, and finally the steering column broken on the left side.

Clearly blighted, the hood gave one the distinct impression that it willingly harbored much more than a trove of dead-ended cars.

Even as I waited for the police, a gypsy wrecker truck towed a car two blocks down where local predators stripped it before my eyes. While the treasured parts were being stored on the side of a nearby pink house, the wrecker towed the car carcass away, presumably to some dead-end street.

As the long wait began, the locals paraded by off and on. A cheery-looking lady walking her dog offset the unfriendly stares of a pair of youths carrying a battery to a disabled car. It's a lonely feeling standing across from your disabled stolen car with wary uncertainty as to what the hood holds for you.

Not until the police arrived after two agonizing hours did we pop the hood.

Some of our worst fears were realized as we stared at the holder where the battery had been, the ripped-out hoses where the AC compressor had been, and the empty spot where the radiator had been.

"They were looking for the policeman parts," observed, as we combed the engine for other bad indications. Fortunately, there were no more unpleasant surprises anywhere else around the engine, but the lock cylinder had been broken out of the trunk and a few choice items were gone. As we towed the car out, we passed the pink house where about eight of the young predators sat on the porch, looking curiously at us as if we by Father Jerome were only interlopers and not owners of vio> lated, destroyed property. The same body man who had reported the theft put the repair expenses at $1000 plus.

> So, for the convenience of patching hot cars with stolen cannibalized parts, and due to an extreme distaste for any serious work, local predators around the nation are costing people huge expenses and often total vehicular losses.

Every handful of seconds, a car is stolen somewhere in this country.

A very baleful realization settles on us when we compare the looting and the overall violence in Iraq with what goes on here in the United States.

I have carefully watched various accounts of events in Iraq and come away with the conviction that, on average, violence is worse in our midst.

After storms or electric power failure, there is far more looting and general thievery going on here than in troubled Iraq. Even the murder count is significantly higher in the States than in the Middle East. We are living a mind-spinning anomaly that the violence level is higher here than there.

Which returns us to the bitter reality that, while international terrorists with their suicide bombers are the most blatant threat to our personal and national well-being, the dirty little secret is that by far the most emotional, social and physical damage is wrought by our own urban terrorists, wayward children.

So the war against international terrorism, ambitious and aggressive to the tune of tens of billions of dollars, is necessary for our sheer survival as a nation. However, the Trojan Horse of urban terrorism demands a much more ambitious and aggressive approach. Perhaps we need to call it war also.

As long as predators from the hood can collaborate with gypsy wrecker operators who tow cars for them to strip brazenly in broad daylight and in the presence of strangers, we are not investing enough in our urban warfare.

dutiful citizens set themselves behind burglar bars, arm their cars with The Club and an alarm, and still live in constant fear of violation and stripping of their property, we have not done nearly enough in this war-

Especially where parenting is deficient, we must dig deep into our local village, working with Big Sister, Big Brother, Each One Save One and all the resources available to us to recreate our families and neighborhoods.

By Ed Young

Tho or what gives us the most trouble in life? Who or what consistently is ever present wanting it's own way? It's called the flesh, self, fallen nature. That nature is contrary to God and man.

Yes, the devil and his demons do play a part influencing our lives. They look for weak spots in our personality; and usually find them.

However, the real culprit is SELF. Self, left to it's rebellious ways: there isn't anything it wouldn't do!

To restrain this rebellious nature, God gave us laws found in the Old Testament. Much of our laws today are a derivative of those

The "Word" for the Week Loving families Dennis J. Prutow • Box 303, Sterling, KS 67579

If you build your house with bricks made from inferior clay and not properly fired, your house will not last. Like it or not, the family is the basic building block of society.

As the family goes, so goes our nation. With the weakening of the family we see the decline of schools. As there are more babies born outside marriage, we see dysfunctional families multiply and violence in our streets increase.

As we see marriages crumble, we see added trauma among our children and higher suicide rates. Loving families are the answer. Loving families begin with husbands and wives along with their children loving and serving the living God.

One of the most famous families in history is in the Bible. The father of that family was called Israel. Israel had 12 sons. The family grew and became a very large nation. God gave this great family a basic command. "Hear, 0 Israel! The Lord is our God, the Lord is one! And you shall love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul and with all your might" (Deuteronomy 6:4-5). As long as the family-nation followed this command, God promised a fruitful future. God promised others would look up to this family. God said to the family regarding His commandments, "So keep and do them, for that is your wisdom and your understanding in the sight of the peoples who will hear all these statues and say, 'Surely this great nation is a wise and understanding people' (Deuteronomy 4:6)

God wanted a family that loved Him and followed Him to be a model for the rest of the world. That idea has not changed. Families that love God and follow Him are models for the rest of the world around them today.

Cut Heat Loss,

Reduce Energy Costs According to a test performed in cut heat loss in a home and reduce heating bills is to install an energy-saving fireplace damper, according HomeSaver, Inc., maker of chimney liners, chimney caps and top-sealing fireplace dampers for residential use. An energy-saving damper replaces the original damper in a fireplace and is installed at the top of the chimney.

While a fireplace and chimney are an essential part of many homes, a large number of chimneys are inadequately sealed and are a major source of heat loss. According to the laws of physics, warm air inside the home is more likely to rise up and escape through a leaky chimney than to go out an open window. This energy loss can result in unnecessarily high home heating bills.

Architectural Testing, an independent Minnesota, installing an energy-saving damper to the top of a chimney can cut heat loss by more than 75 percent.

"Many people don't realize how much money is going up their chimney," noted Bob Daniels, president and CEO of HomeSaver in Fairfield, Iowa. "Installing a top-sealing damper is a simple home improvement that can go a long way toward keeping a home warm."

While a majority of chimneys contain an internal metal damper, these products are often inadequate at restricting the flow of air between a home and the outdoors. The dampers have a metal-to-metal closure that can leave gaps, allowing

A LOW-MAINTENANCE, DECORATIVE option for your home is installing a metal roof.

Is a Metal Roof in Your Future?

he popularity of metal roofing goes back centuries. The ancient Greeks and Romans installed metal roofs on major public buildings, and the cathedrals and castles of medieval Europe were protected by metal roofs — many of which are still in service today.

More recently, however, metal roofing has begun showing up in more and more residential applications, due in large part to the development of advanced new zinc-aluminum alloys and polymer coatings like Kynar-based finishes. The new metal roofing panels are long-lived (typically backed by a lifetime warranty), and offer a variety of benefits for both new construction and re-roofing projects, includ-

• Aesthetic appeal — In addition to the sleek, clean lines of standing-seam metal roofing, today's innovative new products can also successfully replicate the look of traditional residential materials like wood shingles, slate and terra cotta tile.

• Lightweight — This is particularly important in reroofing projects, where metal roofs are typically installed directly over the old roof, eliminating tear off and disposal costs.

• Fire resistance — In the wake of this year's devastating wildfires, the Class-A fire rating earned by most metal roofing systems is even more appealing to homeowners.

• Energy efficiency — Today's metal roofing systems can provide significant energy savings in both warm- and cold-weather climates. With adequate insulation, a metal roof's R-values often greatly exceed the ratings for comparable installations using traditional asphalt, wood or tile roof-

• Durability — Energy efficiency coupled with energy savings and reduced maintenance expenses, creates an exceptionally low life cycle cost. With a usable life measured in decades, rather than years, a metal roof is almost always the most economical alternative in the long run.

Other attractive benefits include corrosion-and faderesistance, made possible by

Fireplaces Add Warmth to Any Room in a Home

FIREPLACES AREN'T JUST in living rooms anymore. Put them in bedrooms, basements. kitchens and even bathrooms.

image of the fireplace is undergoing major renova-tions. While the vision of a large crackling fireplace nestled in the corner of the living room remains a mainstay in North American home design, radical changes in the fireplace market have expanded the potential for adding a fireplace, and thereby its ambiance, to any room in the

According to the Hearth, Patio & Barbecue Association (HPBA), new products now make it possible to add fireplaces to nontraditional locations while encouraging the installation of fireplaces as a design element throughout a

Today's fireplaces feature creative looks, unique shapes and sizes, convenient fuels and a variety of venting choices that make the addition of a fireplace more flexible than ever. Now fireplaces can be customized and easily installed to accentuate any decor and add ambiance to bedrooms, bathrooms, kitchens, home offices, basements, media rooms and even backyard patios.

"These are not our fathers' fireplaces," says Carter Keithley, president and CEO of the HPBA, the North American fireplace trade association located in Arlington, Virginia. "There's a fireplace for any potential project. There are no limits."

Significant fireplace breakthroughs include:

• A see-through fireplace that provides a window to the outside

• Small "bookshelf" fireplaces installed at eye-level

• Fireplaces that double as mirrors when not in use

• Oversized gas fireplaces with 30-inch flames, invisible glass and no visible vents

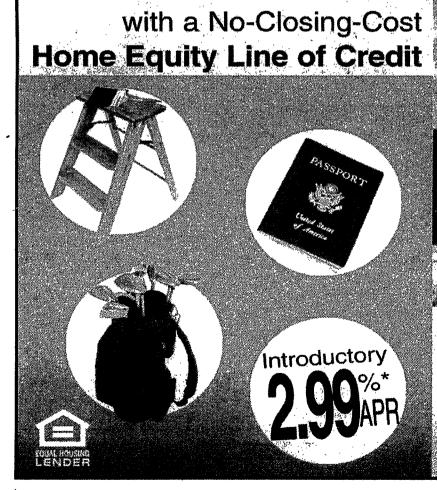

• Fireplaces where fire dances in pebbles or glass beads

• Weatherproof outdoor fireplaces

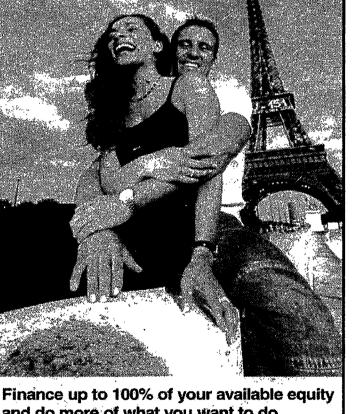

The idea of fireplaces in multiple locations is not unheard of in North American homes. Today, more than 21 percent of people have a fireplace or freestanding stove someplace other than a living room or family room, according to a recent report by the HPBA, "Fireplace the Freestanding Stove Usage and Attitude Study.'

Tradition calls for a woodburning fireplace; however, the logistics of this conventional choice may limit a homeowner's ability to personalize its look or placement. By considering an electric, gas or propane fireplace, a homeowner may be able to install a fireplace in a way that better accentuates the

Are You Asking Your Contractor the Right Questions?

NARI Offers Homeowners Tips to Avoid Home Remodeling Fraud

National Association of the Remodeling Industry, (NARI) "The Voice of the Remodeling Industry"TM, shares a short list of questions asked by homeowners during a remodeling project as well as the questions many homeowners forget to

You would think that launching an entire remodeling project would spark a truckload of questions from wary homeowners who have heard the horror stories surrounding the world of remodeling. Surprisingly, though, contractor members of the National Association of the Remodeling Industry (NARI) admit they aren't asked enough questions.

Timing and money are the most common questions we hear," says NARI President Mark Brick, CR, CGR, and president of B & E Contractors in General Glendale, Wisc. "During an interview with a homeowner homeowners should be asking about credentials and verifying business practices, rather than 'When can you start? When will it be finished?' and 'How much will it cost?"

These few questions simply aren't enough. If a homeowner wishes to have a successful remodeling project, they should learn the right questions to ask and how to

Other popular queries homeowners pose are: "What time will you knock on my door each morning?" "What time will you quit for the day?" "Are you going to work everyday?" "Can you finish before (insert any major holiday or significant family event)?" and "How much will it cost per square foot?"

While these questions are important, they shouldn't be the primary focus for choosing a professional remodeler.

"A reasonable timetable is important," says Brick, "but it shouldn't be the primary focus of an interview or a job, and neither should budget. Homeowners should focus on trust and quality. If you find someone who is reputable and trustworthy, the budget and timeline will fall into place."

Homeowners should start by asking questions about a company's business practices and experience in a similar type of project. If you decide you want to hire a particular contractor, then you can discuss when he or she can start, what time he or she can knock on your door each morning and when you will have your home to yourselves again. These are all items that can be discussed at a pre-remodeling meeting.

Here are some of the questions NARI recommends you ask before signing a remodeling contract:

 How long have you been in business?

· Who will be assigned as project supervisor for the job? Who will be working on the project? Are they employees or subcontractors?

• What is your approach to a project such as this?

• How many projects like mine have you completed in the past year?

• May I have a list of reference from those projects?

 May I have a list of business referrals or suppliers?

· What percentage of your business is repeat or referral business?

 Are you a member of a national trade association?

Does your company

It's easy to make mistakes like these, according to Hyman, since items don't have to be old or look valuable to be worth money to today's collector.

Almost anything more than 20 years old is sought by someone, according to Hyman, who for 23 years has helped people sell everything from shrunken heads to old Girl Scout uniforms.

"It's surprising what peo-ple will pay for," Hyman says, noting that he has paid $1,500 for an empty cigar box, New Yorker David Smith has paid that for a frying pan and Floridian David Herz shelled out that same amount for a plastic model

Rod Baum in New Jersey will pay you up to $2,000 for The Caine Mutiny soundtrack or the first pressing of Bob Dylan's Freewheeling.

Another source of $100 bills is fishing tackle. Thousands of fishing lures can bring $100 to $5,000 each from fishing collectibles author, Rick Edmiston, who will evaluate all your fishing gear at no charge, no matter where you live.

Talking to an expert by phone or e-mail is almost always the best way to sell, says Hyman. The secret to selling your trash for top dollar is knowing who to call.

When someone says, "Your cereal box is worth $2,000," the question you need to ask is "worth $2,000 to whom?" Probably fewer than a dozen people nationwide.

It's what's inside that counts.

When it comes to your home's efficiency, you need to take a closer look. Insulation, infiltration control, attic ventilation and a properly-sized heat pump are just a few of the ways that a Comfort Advantage Home operates at maximum efficiency.

The Right Coating Helps You Reap Huge Roofing Benefits

It is among the most dreaded repairs to any home or commercial building — the need for a new roof. Fortunately, here's some advice that can add years of life to an existing roof and even lower energy bills.

According to the experts at Rohm and Haas Company, before replacing a roof, homeowners or building managers should consider applying an advanced roof coating. These white 100 percent acrylic elastomeric coatings can add five to 10 years of life to an existing roof. They are lightweight and resist dirt, so they maintain a fresh appearance for several years.

The coatings are ideal for most flat or low-sloped roofs, such as those found on many row homes, townhouses, apartment buildings, condominiums and commercial buildings. The acrylic in these coatings gives them superior durability while the elastomeric allows the coating to expand and contract with the roof. This helps prevent cracks that may occur with temperature changes, settling of the foundation, the weight of ice and snow, and normal building movement associated with the change of seasons.

In addition to maintenance benefits, white 100 percent acrylic elastomeric coatings enhance the energy efficiency of buildings. The bright color allows the coating to reflect much of the sun's heat and UV rays, which helps keep the building cool.

Tests show that white acrylic coatings can cool the roof surface by 40 degrees or more on sunny days, leading to big savings on air conditioning costs.

Somewhat surprisingly, white elastomeric coatings create energy savings yearround, according to several

Haas Company. For example, a study conducted by the University of Southern Mississippi compared the energy demands of two similar buildings, one with a black asphalt roof, the other, with a white 100 percent acrylic elastomeric roof coating. After a full year of steady monitoring, the building with the white roof coating used 22 percent less energy in the summer and about 4 percent less energy in the winter. The were savings explained by the fact that the dark roof absorbed heat during the day but also emitted heat more easily on winter nights.

White 100 percent acrylic elastomeric roof coatings can be easily applied by a professional roofing contractor, and can be maintained through the use of acrylic caulk and occasional touch-ups to the

Simple Steps to Keep Your Family Safe in Every Room of the House

here do you feel safest?
For most, the answer is likely within their own home. But is your home really safe enough for you and your family?

According to a recent study by the National Safety Council (NSC), the second most common location of fatal accidental injuries is in the home (motor vehicles are that a fatal injury occurs in the home every 16 minutes and a disabling injury every four seconds.

"Homeowners can significantly increase the level of safety in their home by following some basic steps," says Lou Manfredini, home improvement expert and Ace Hardware's "Helpful Hardware Man." Following are several ideas from Ace for keeping your home safe.

In The Kitchen

• Use childproof locks on all cabinet doors:

• Keep pot handles on stove burners turned to the back. Never leave a stove that is in use unattended.

• Never store papers, oily rags or combustible materials near an open flame or heat source.

• Replace the oven's exhaust hood filter every three months.

• Lock away all cleaning and hazardous materials.

• Install anti-scald aerators on faucets.

• Never pour water on a grease fire; instead, turn off the stove and cover the pan with a lid, or close the oven door.

In The Bathroom

• Make sure towel bars are firmly installed.

• Place non-skid strips or mats in the bathtub.

• Check the expiration dates of prescription medicines, discarding all that are too old.

 Keep radios, portable heaters and hair dryers away from the bathtub or shower.

• Make sure ground fault interrupter (GFI) electrical outlets are installed in areas like the kitchen and bathroom where water is present. Sold at hardware stores, GFIs protect from shock by interrupting the flow of electricity in a circuit when there is a difference in the currents in the "hot" and neutral electric wires.

"GFIs look similar to a regular wall receptacle, but you can identify them by the small test and reset buttons included on them," said Manfredini.

IN the bedrooms

• Install carbon monoxide detectors in a hallway on each floor. Test the batteries monthly, and replace them each year.

• Purchase a window escape ladder.

• In children's rooms, install prong snap-on plug locks on outlets.

In Living/Family Rooms

• Put non-skid backing on small, loose rugs.

• Use cord shorteners for lamps and home electronics.

Install protective grills

in front of fireplaces.

• Never leave burning candles unattended.

• Follow directions and manufacturer's warnings when using a space heater. Used improperly, it can be the most dangerous appliance in the house.

• Use safety plugs in electrical outlets.

Fire Safety

"While October is Fire Prevention Month, I'm of the mindset that every month must be devoted to fire safety," says Manfredini. The following steps can help protect your family in case of a fire.

• Place smoke detectors near bedrooms and on every floor. Check the batteries regularly and replace them each year.

• Mount fire extinguishers in the kitchen and garage. Learn how to use them in a non-emergency situation. Monitor the pressure gauge periodically to ensure the unit is fully charged.

• Keep areas around your home furnace or water heater clutter-free.

"A final step is to have an evacuation plan ready in case of fire," says Manfredini. "The plan should include at least two ways out of every room in your home. Make sure to share it with every household member and practice it."

of lush, thick grass. However, come autumn are you supposed to just sit back and let Mother Nature take her course and turn your hard work into a dried-out eyesore? The lawn experts at The Scotts Company say no, and that in fact, there are steps you can take early in the season to prepare your lawn for next year.

• Watering is one of the most important preparations for a healthy lawn come the spring. Although your lawn goes dormant during winter months, it is important to remember the grass is living and needs moisture for survival. Water your lawn prior to the "deep freeze" to keep the soil moist. It takes much colder air temperatures to lower the temperature of mold development when win-

• Make sure the soil is well fertilized. Slow-release formulas or winterizing fertilizers are available to keep your lawn well fed and healthy.

Or, consider adding a nutritional boost using a soil product like Scotts Enriched Lawn Soil to make maintaining the lawn even easier. Enriched soil often works better than native soil, which is often depleted of the essential nutrients needed to maintain vibrant, green grass, and balances the problems of moisture retention, fertilization and poor soil composition.

• Rake and pick up fallen leaves. Autumn foliage makes the time of year an awe-inspiring spectacle, but those beautiful falling leaves can wreak havoc on your lawn.

Leaves compacted on top of the lawn can cause snow

THERE ARE EASY steps you can take early in the season, like aerating new sod so that water, food and air can get through, to prepare your lawn for next year.

• Fungal diseases thrive best in cool weather. Inspect your lawn carefully through the fall and winter. If you suspect it has fallen prey to problems like brown patch, gray leaf spot or another dis-

• Pick colors that are rich and dramatic, such as jewel tones or warm neutrals. Red. russet and burgundy are especially good choices, combined with gold and muted

• The lavish use of trimmings gives every room a traditional look. Deep bullion fringe can be added to the skirts of sofas and chairs, tassel fringe can edge draperies, and novelty trims can add personality to pillows.

• A trick designers use to make rooms more inviting is to upholster a wall in an elegant fabric, either in a distinctive pattern or in a subtle textured solid, such as Romann's Stroheim Dawson Quilted Velvet.

• Rich, gleaming woods such as mahogany, walnut or cherry on floors, furniture and accessories, are a wonderful accent in traditional rooms.

 Don't ignore the details in traditional rooms. Drapery hardware in a complementary classic style is the perfect finishing touch for windows. Stroheim & Romann's drapery hardware collection includes hand-gilded woods in timeless designs.

• One of the most versatile furniture options is an oversized ottoman, a practical alternative to a coffee table that encourages relaxation and also does double-duty as extra seating.

The Right 'Tools' Can Make Any Paint Job Easier

while painting some surfaces can be easy, challenges can and do arise while painting others. But don't worry—any project can be easy if you have the right tools. Follow the advice of the primer experts at ZINSSER when painting the following hard-to-paint surfaces:

Painting a light color over dark colored surfaces — Apply a coat of a quality primer-sealer before you paint to hide previous colors and prevent them from showing through your new paint job. Primer-sealers, like Bulls Eye 1-2-3®, are formulated to completely block even the darkest colors, including deep reds and dark browns, so they won't bleed through or change the color of your new paint job.

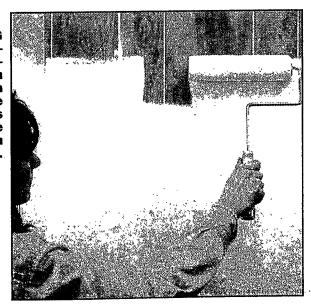

Painting over glossy surfaces — Don't expect paint to do a primer's job. Ordinary paint won't stick to slick surfaces, like glossy paint, clear finishes, metal, Formica®, cabinets, paneling or tile. By applying a quality primer to the surface first, your paint will stick to the surface and fresh coat of paint can quickly change the look of any room in your home. Ing some surfaces of challenges can e while painting don't worry — your paint job will last longer and won't crack, peel or blister over time. Tip from the pros: Want to eliminate sanding from surface prep? Use a primer like ZINSSER's B-I-N®, or Bulls Eye 1-2-3. They're formulated to stick to all surfaces without sanding.

Painting porous surfaces like builder's flat paint and new drywall — Porous surfaces absorb paint unevenly and often create an inconsistent color and sheen that requires multiple coats of paint. A good primer will seal the surface so paint spreads more evenly and easily for a better-looking finish with less paint. Tip from the pros: For best results, tint your primer toward the color of your paint. Research shows that one coat of tinted primer and one coat of paint will give you a better paint job than two coats of paint.

Covering crayon, marker or water stains — Everyday life is bound to produce a variety of stains on your walls, including crayon, lipstick, water stains or grease. With a ZINSSER primer in your toolbox, you can block and seal stains permanently and prevent them from bleeding through your new paint job.

Network Web site. You can hang the boards from Interlocking Fasteners with Command Adhesive from 3M. Attach one bright yellow fastener to the wall and the other to the hoard. You know that they are connected when a snapping noise confirms that the strips are perfectly in place. Detach the fasteners as often as you like. The adhesive works on most flat surfaces and leaves no hole or sticky residue when properly removed.

Whether or not a room is dedicated to your hobby, the place can become disheveled in mid-project, making it hard to find even the phone. Interlocking Fasteners on your cell or portable phone will keep either handy on the wall. And the scissors and tape? Hang them from a Command Adhesive hook.

3M has a range of other self-stick products that can help keep your projects organized and most can be used again and again with removable mounting strips. Let spring clips grasp plastic bags holding the screws and nails from ready-to-assemble (RTA) furniture. If you have a few RTA projects going at once, use the clip colors-blue, purple, green or white-to keep the hardware apart, and mark the respective instructions and boxes with the corresponding color.

Pauline Allison, brand manager for 3M's Command Adhesive products and a weekend do-it-yourselfer, moved the self-stick hooks from workroom to guest bedroom. She draped swags of silk cord from utensil hooks and pasted a tassel and the cord to small, round pieces of cardboard to make rosettes. The rosettes hang from Interlocking Fasteners.

VINYL DECK SYSTEMS continue to grow popular among homeowners. However, not all vinyl decks are alike and it's important to understand how to find a quality system for your home.

There's More to Vinyl Deck Systems than Meets the Eye

he rise in the popularity of vinyl systems means a rise in the number of brands available on the market today. Not all vinyl decks are alike, so you need to understand what you are buying and the differences between the various vinyl deck systems. A good deck system will offer features that can handle the various demands that you will place on it. Features such as ultraviolet protection, color retention, impact retention and the proper use of co-extrusion all affect the quality and impact the longevity of the product.

Ultraviolet (UV) protection is essential in vinyl products that are intended for exterior applications. "The UV additives work like a window shade and protect the vinyl from breaking down, becoming brittle and discoloring," noted Deron Manwaring of Royal Crown Limited, a manufacturer of decking systems. Manwaring explained the industry standard for the UV additive is 10 parts per hundred. The best vinyl decks on the market are produced with 12 parts per hundred of titanium dioxide, the best additive available.

Several deck systems are offered in different colors. Make sure they are manufactured with good quality color additives to ensure that the colors do not fade. Vinyl deck manufacturers that use the very best proven color blends certify the steadfastness of the colors.

In the vinyl industry, the co-extrusion manufacturing process is becoming more common because it reduces material expense. process is very successful and can result in a high quality product if used properly. All too often though, it is used to hide a sub-standard, recycled base material that the manufacturer can purchase at a reduced price. Design Trends: Wallcoverings at Center Stage he newest tool in the decorator's kit may be an old one — wallpaper. After years of being eclipsed by painted finishes or colorless backgrounds, wallpaper is staging a comeback. Suddenly, wallpaper is everywhere — in decorating magazines, hit movies, catalog photography, ads and even commercials. The renewed popularity can be attributed to many factors.

One explanation is that people are simply getting tired of their plain vanilla boxes, opting instead for more color and pattern in their homes, says Gina Shaw, vice president of design for Eisenhart Wallcoverings Co., a leading wallpaper manufacturer.

The uncertainties of modern life also have reaffirmed the importance of home as a safe and comfortable haven and a canvas for expressing personal style, she says.

"Wallcovering is a wonderful way to add pattern, texture and color," observes Suzan Decker-Ross of Decker-Ross Interiors in Clearwater, Fla. "For example, grass cloth-like textures are coming back. But there are all kinds of textures and tropical looks and ornate patterns too."

And for those who don't want traditional patterns, there are "dynamite new looks that are hip and colorful," Decker-Ross says.

Wallpaper creates a dilemma for many do-it-yourself homeowners: They want to decorate with it, but they may be reluctant to do so because it seems like a challenging, messy project. And they may have heard — or know from personal experience — that wallpaper can be difficult to remove when it's time for a change.

But that's not the case any longer. New wallpapers such as Eisenhart's PaperezTM make it easy to update and redecorate a room as often as desired. Paperez (pronounced "paper-ease") belongs to a class of enhanced wall coverings that can be stripped off walls cleanly in full sheets without the use of chemicals, water spray bottles or putty knives.

It is unique because of its paste-the-wall installation, which eliminates messy water trays and applications of adhesive to the back of the paper. Instead, a special adhesive is applied to the wall with a paint roller and the wallpaper is put up dry. No initial messy steps, and the rest of the wallpapering process is easy — matching the pattern, butting the seams together, smoothing the surface and trimming.

"After do-it-yourselfers try one of the new user-friendly wallpapers, they will feel a lot more confident," Eisenhart's Shaw says. "They can stop worrying about installing the paper and focus instead on wallpaper as a terrific decorating option that will add personality and create today's hottest style statements in their homes."

REDECORATE AS OFTEN as you wish with Paperez, a new type of wallcovering from Eisenhart that is not only easy to install, but also strips away cleanly in full sheets when it's time for a change.

IT'S NEARLY IMPOSSIBLE to get rid of dust mites throughout your home. However, you can take steps to decrease your exposure to those nasty little "critters" creeping around your home.

Hints to Minimize Dust Mites

It seems that no matter how often you dust, it just keeps on coming back. Dust is inevitable — it's not a sign of uncleanliness. Rather, dust mites come out after a normal breakdown of fibers in pillows, drapes, clothes, linens and other furnishings. It's basically impossible to rid your home of them. But you can take some steps to decrease your exposure to those nasty things creeping around your home.

• Bedroom: Bedrooms should not be located in humid areas, like the basement. Mount beds on bed frames. Put allergen-impermeable encasings on pillows, mattresses and box springs. Use pillows, blankets, quilts and bedspreads made of synthetics; avoid down-filled comforters and pillows altogether. Wash bedding at least once a week.

• Floors: Avoid carpeting and thick rugs. If you do have carpets, select area rugs or thin ones. Vacuum often or buy a machine that reduces

It seems that no matter how often you dust, it just like hardwood, linoleum, keeps on coming back. Dust vinyl or tile are easy to clean is inevitable — it's not a sign of uncleanliness. Rather, dust buildup.

• Furniture: Replace fabric-upholstered furniture like sofas and chairs with leather upholstery or other furniture made of plastic, wood or metal, which won't trap allergens.

• Cleaning: Vacuum bedrooms and mattresses at least once a week, and clean furniture with a damp cloth rather than a dry one.

• Air: Use air cleaners to keep pure air circulating, and cover vents with filters to ensure clean air enters the home. Keep the relative humidity in your home low (below 50 percent, according to studies), because dust mites can't survive in such conditions. Clean and maintain heating and air units at least once a year.

• Around the house: Reduce clutter, books and stuffed animals to prevent the proliferation of dust.

Prepare Shrubs and Trees for Winter now

Ithough spring is the best time for pruning, a light fall pruning can benefit many shrubs and trees. Some plants need preparation for the winter, especially large, overgrown shrubs. And, in the case of deciduous trees, pruning when the leaves are off will give you a better idea of how it will affect the shape of the tree.

Proper tools are essential for fall pruning chores. Having the right tool for the job not only means less work for you but also ensures that your plants and trees will heal more quickly. The choice of which tool to use depends largely on the size of the branches that are to be pruned and the amount of pruning you need to do. In general, hand pruners work well for small jobs, loppers for thicker branches up to 3 inches in diameter, and tree pruners for those hard-to-reach tree limbs.

Look for tools that feature mechanical advantages to increase your cutting power, as well as ergonomic attributes that add to your comfort.

WHAT SHOULD YOU PRUNE?

• Any dead or diseased twigs or branches should be cut off as soon as you see them.

• If you wish to do further tidying up, cut thin, weak twigs that have not borne flowers or fruit.

 Any crossing branches that rub against and damage one another should be pruned to leave a strong framework for the plant or tree.

carry workers compensation and liability insurance? A homeowner should always verify this information by calling the insurance agency. A copy of an insurance certificate does not let you know if the policy is still current, even if the certificate has an expiration date. The insurance policy may have been canceled by either party.

• If licensing is required in their state, a homeowner should also ask if the contractor is licensed and call to verify compliance with the law. Not all states offer or require though. licensing, Homeowners should check with local or state government agencies.

• Have you or your employees been certified in remodeling or had any special training or education, such as earning a Certified Remodeler (CR), Certified Kitchen and Bath Remodeler (CKBR) Certified Remodeler Specialist (CRS) or Certified Lead Carpenter (CLC) or Certified Kitchen & Bath Remodeler (CKBR) designation?

It's also important to realize that sometimes it's not the answers that are significant, but what the contractor leaves out. Sometimes asking the right questions is not enough, and homeowners need to pay attention to their instincts and to what infor-

Both dampers are operated easily by a handle in the fireplace and are only available through chimney and hearth professionals. These specialists ensure proper sizing and installation, which promotes the life and safety of the equipment.

In addition to the energy savings, dampers can also protect a chimney from the damage caused by water from rain and snow, which can destroy a chimney over time.

Water can deteriorate the bricks and mortar joints, as well as inflict damage to the firebox.

Dampers can also prevent odors from entering the home and create a barrier against raccoons, squirrels, birds and rodents building nests in the chimney.

"It's no surprise that people continue to find new and ingenious ways to incorporate fireplaces into their lives," said Keithley. "The ambiance of fire is an important component of our homes."

This conviction is validated by a statistic from the HPBA study, which indicates that 58 percent of North Americans look to a dancing flame as a source of ambiance instead of heat.

Metal roofing systems appeal to contractors, as well. In addition to being lightweight and easy to handle, the newest metal shingle, shake and tile systems are easily workable by roofing crews who have conventional shingle experience.

Among the leading examples of these advanced new roofing systems are the aluminum shakes, shingles and tiles marketed by Custom Metal Roof Systems, L.L.C.

Custom Metal Roof Systems, L.L.C.'s line of tile and shake panels are stonecoated, using real rock colored with a ceramic-pigment dye that is permanent and nonfading, and adhered using an advanced art-baked resin that is backed with a lifetime warranty.

The company also supplies standing seam metal roofing systems fabricated from steel, aluminum or copper, as well as Kynar-finished steel tile, steel shingles, aluminum shake and steel or copper shingles.

Build a Personal Fall Retreat in Your Backyard

magine yourself effortlessly swaying on a hammock under a kaleidoscope of colors as the leaves drift to the ground in the fall breeze. How long has it been since you've admired the peace and beauty of your own backyard? If your answer is "too long," then you might want to take time this autumn to create a personal retreat that can offer a respite from your lawn

"under" viewpoint on the change of season.

TIMELESS RELAXATION TOOL

Once you've realized that the desire is there to build a relaxation retreat, your next decision is what type of hammock you want. Symbolizing enduring comfort and relaxation, hammocks have been around for over a century. Today, however, choosing a as they come in a multitude of styles, sizes and colors. Here are a few pointers to keep in mind that will help you make the choice that's right for you.

HAMMOCK HELPERS

Three main hammock styles are available, including hand-woven rope, quilted fabric and open-weave vinyl fabric. Each selection offers support and comfort, allowing you to choose the particular model that suits your personal style.

The classic rope hammock is woven by hand and constructed of cotton or polyester rope. While cotton rope is the traditional and most popular hammock material, polyester rope often has a longer outdoor life and is available in an assortment of colors. The classic design cradles your body while allowing the breeze to flow through its Quilted fabric hammocks provide a full fabric bed, offering superior support and comfort. The quilted fabric selection makes a variety of colors and design options possible. You can select a particular pattern or hue that complements your home and outdoor furnishings. Quilted fabric hammocks are crafted of the latest weather-resistant and colorfast materials.

The vinyl-coated, openweave hammock combines the open-woven design of a rope hammock with the comfort of a full fabric bed, like that of a quilted hammock. It has a mesh composition that allows for easy airflow and is impervious to water, making it a perfect fit for poolside relaxing. The vinyl is coated so the hammock bed has added protection against the outdoor elements. Like quilted fabric hammocks, vinylcoated, open-weave hammocks also come in numerous designs and colors.

COMPLETING THE RETREAT

"Once you decide which hammock style you'd like for your fall retreat, you must contemplate how and where you'd like to support your hammock. Two perfectly positioned trees are no longer necessary to enjoy a hammock," says Laurie Rudd, creative director for The HammockSource®, manufacturer of The Original Pawleys Island Rope Hammock®. While most hammocks come with hooks for hanging between trees, a variety of stands also are available from which to suspend your hammock." They are easy to assemble, with some stands requiring no tools at all, leaving you free to install your hammock exactly where you want it. When purchasing accessories, like the hammock stands, look for items that are built for long outdoor life. Quality steel products should be protected with a durable outdoor finish such as powder coating. Offered in a variety of colors, hammock stands are made today to be a part of "backyard dressing." They are available in longlasting stainless steel as well as the naturally weatherresistant cypress wood. Many accessories are available today to enhance hammock enjoyment. After you've selected your dream hammock and hanging device, you can begin accessorizing your personal fall retreat. A hammock pillow is the "icing on the cake," so to speak. It accents your hammock while adding extra comfort to the lounging experi-

AN AUTUMN RETREAT

The autumn months provide the best time for outdoor improvement, as well as lying back and enjoying what you have accomplished under the picturesque setting nature's golden, brown and auburn hues. Easy Pointers to Help You Save on Utilities

f you are like many homeowners, you likely dread the arrival of bills. Especially the water, phone and electric bills - it feels like you have no control over them, so you just sigh and write the check. It's time to take charge of your bills. By just paying a little more attention to your household habits, you can cut your utility costs. Sure, you'll never get excited to see those utility bills in the mailbox. But you might be smiling at your savings.

Melanie Paxson

Checking in With Melanie Paxson

By Jay Bobbin

Dysfunction rules NBC's "Happy Family," but co-star Melanie Paxson

isn't mad - she's glad.

Recognizable from her gig as the perky, high-pitched spokeswoman in commercials for sandwich bags, Paxson is getting a big break as John Larroquette and Christine Baranski's unstable yet overachieving daughter on the new Tuesday-night sitcom. "I think I've been lucky, mainly because of my agent and my manager," she says. "They tend to push me, and they'll tell (casting agents), 'She can do this. I test give here a become." do this. Just give her a chance.'

Paxson's voice arguably is her strongest calling card. "When I get in front of an audience, it just naturally gets higher," she says. "When I try to project, it gets higher, too, but I'm not purposely trying to make my voice higher for this character. I don't necessible to the character. sarily rely on it, but it does help me stand out from other actresses my age."

Last spring, as Melanie Deanne
Moore (before her July wedding),
Paxson played actress Joyce DeWitt in the NBC movie "Behind the Camera: The Unauthorized Story of Three's Company." It was her most prominent acting job prior to "Happy Family," and she recalls the film as "wonderful, just an amazing learning experience. It was a great story, too. Joyce came onto the set the secondto-last day of filming, and she was so nice. After it was all over, she sent me a very nice note.

As audiences get their earliest sampling of "Happy Family," Paxson isn't giving up her other day job: After doing the sandwich-bag ads for three years the sandwich-bag ads for three years, she recently re-upped for at least one more. She vows, "If everybody wants me to keep doing both things, I will do both gladly. No pun intended."

Featured Comedy will rule as Fox airs television's Emmy Awards

By Jay Bobbin

If you don't laugh during this year's Primetime Emmy Awards, some comedy stars will have failed ... big-time.

Humor will be key when Fox airs the tel-evision industry's 55th annual ceremony Sunday, Sept. 21, from the Shrine Audito-rium in Los Angeles. Many comedians with TV ties, from Ellen DeGeneres and Garry Shandling to Bernie Mac and Martin Short, will split the duties of a traditional single

Also on the roster: Brad Garrett ("Everybody Loves Raymond"), Darrell Hammond, George Lopez, Dennis Miller, Conan O'Brien, Jon Stewart and Wanda Sykes ("Wanda at Large").

The ever-sassy Sykes allows that she has "no idea" how to describe her role at the Emmys, devised by a team that includes returning executive producer Don Mischer. "They want each of us to step in and do some bits," she says. "I always go in prepared, so I have some idea of who may be there. I have a few things in mind."

Also a contributor to HBO's "Inside the NFL" series, Sykes tested her award-show mettle last month as a backstage interviewer on Fox's telecast of the Teen Choice Awards. She thinks she acquitted herself well in that capacity. "I guess it comes from working all those years with Chris Rock on his (HBO) show," she says. "We did a lot of man-on-the-street stuff, so "We did a lot of man-on-the-street stuff, so I'm used to the territory."

Not easily starstruck, Sykes prides herself on being an equal-opportunity offender at award shows. "I just see it as something that could ruin my career," she muses "which makes it more fun for me." which makes it more fun for me. I could really take down some big people and just end it all right there. All I have to do is (anger) one executive from one network and I'll be able to say, 'Well, so much for me and ABC.' This past spring, as all of Hollywood rushed to shoot pilots to be considered for the new fall season, one show got a second chance.

Normally, when a show shoots a pilot (as had already been done, in this case, the previous October), then loses half its cast and the production team, it's a harbinger of doom. But with NBC entertainment chief Jeff Zucker in attendance and the pressure on, "Coupling" went before the cameras again, earning a fall berth in the coveted pre-

Adapted from a BBC show of the same name, "Coupling," premiering Thursday, Sept. 25, focuses on six Chicago friends who have had assorted liaisons. Sophisticated Susan (Rena Sofer) breaks up with cocky Patrick (Colin Ferguson), then moves in on nice-guy Steve (Jay Harrington) best pal of her very odd co-worker, Jeff (Chris Moynihan) - who has just broken up with his girlfriend, the vaguely bisexual and definitely offbeat Jane (Lindsay Price)

(Lindsay Price).
At the same time, Susan's best friend, beauty-obsessed Sally (Sonya Walger), fights her attraction to Patrick, who represents everything she abhors (she may change her mind in a future episode, when she learns about his unseen qualities).

The British version, which airs here on BBC America, has earned a reputation for witty banter, daring story lines and frank discussions about the sexual and emotional differences between men and women. The American version hopes to do the same, using some British scripts (modified for cultural content and trimmed for commercials) and some original ones.

Writer Phoef Sutton ("Cheers," "The Fighting Fitzgeralds") and Ben Silverman ("The Restaurant") are the American executive producers; representing the British side are executive producer and co-creator Beryl Vertue, and executive producers Sue Vertue (her daughter) and Steven Moffat (her son-in-law). "Coupling" is based on the courtship of Sue and Steve (get it?), the latter of whom writes all the British episodes.

"Steven, after they met, he just had this idea," Beryl Vertue says. "We said, 'Try to think of an idea for a series,' and he came in one day and laid a piece of paper on the desk with a word on it, 'Coupling,' and then went off.
"We said, 'What does that mean?' He

"We said, 'What does that mean?' He was intrigued by, as indeed so was I, by how friendly they still were with the exes.

"At their wedding, it was full of exes," she recalls. "They're all still great mates. That's true to life, but you can also make a lot of humor out of it, as indeed we are."

Though the American fans of the British version are not exactly legion, they are dedicated and vocal.

"They haven't seen it yet," Harrington says, "but they hate the idea of it. One guy that's like the biggest supporter, he came to the taping Friday night and actually said, 'Let's give it a chance.'

"Honestly, I'm not worried about the things people are saying about Thursday night - pressure, 'Friends' going off the air. I'm concerned that we live up to the original. It's a good show. I don't want to compromise a good thing."

By the time the taping of the first regular episode comes around, there is still a sizable contingent of producers and network types, but the atmosphere is more genial and relaxed.

Lindsay Price, Christopher Moynihan, Sonya Walger, Colin Ferguson, Rena Sofer and Jay Harrington (from left) play Chicago friends, lovers and exes in "Coupling," premiering Thursday on NBC.

"The way it's gone," Harrington says, "with the starting and the stopping and the firing and the hiring, to do the taping and be able to say, 'We get to come back next Friday,' it's so great."

"Lindsay, Jay and I were part of the original one," Ferguson says. "It's just sort of shocking - it usually all falls apart when something goes wrong. That's a testament to how much they were into it, that they actually persevered."

As the series opens, Steve and Susan have already met (but he doesn't quite remember), and they run into each other in the ladies' room of a bar, where Steve is just about to have sex with Jane, after failing one more time to dump her (she derails his attempts by suggesting sex).

Here's the straight scoop on 'Queer Eye'

By Taylor Michaels © Zap2it

On Bravo's "Queer Eye for the Straight Guy," what is the real elapsed time for the action shown on the show? I mean, I doubt that an entire apartment makeover can be accomplished by one guy in a single day's time. And how do they select the "straight guys" for makeover? -Bill Cox, Carmel, Calif.

Glad: you asked, Bill, because I worry that "Queer Eye" isn't getting enough publicity (yeah, right).

Seriously, your suspicions are well-founded. It actually takes design expert Thom Filicia and three unseen assistants four days to complete their home renovations. The notion that Filicia and the rest of the Fab Five are making over their straight guy of the week in only one day is done with tongue firmly in cheek, and the assumption is that the audience is in on this transparent joke.

Please help! My husband and I are loyal "Friends" fans, yet somehow we never have seen the episode many of our friends call the funniest ever, when Ross gets stuck in a pair of tight leather pants. What season is it from? -Chenoa Philabaum, Bothell Wash.

: That hilarious episode was "The One With All the Resolutions," from Jan. 7, 1999. You'll find it on the "Best of Friends - Volume 4" DVD, which is available from Amazon.com for under $20. Thanks for asking. I started laughing just thinking about it.

ABC delivers a fall valentine with charming 'I'm With Her'

For the past several seasons, network prime time has been dominated by gross-out "reality" shows and meanspirited comedies in which snarky jokes replace anything resembling recognizahle human emotions.

Maybe that's why ABC's new "I'm With Her," which premieres Tuesday, Sept. 23, feels so wildly retro: It's an authentic romantic comedy, a funny honey of a show.

Chris Henchy, a former "Spin City" writer and producer who created this new series with fellow executive producer Marco Pennette ("Caroline in the City"), clearly believes in writing what you know: "I'm With Her" is loosely based on Henchy's experiences as an "average guy" dating actress Brooke Shields, whom he married in 2001.

As the show opens, high-school English teacher Patrick Owen (David Sutcliffe "Gilmore Girls") has an unexpected and painful brush with destiny as a dog bites him on the butt while he's having coffee with best friend Stevie (newcomer Danny Comden).

The dog belongs to Alex Young (Teri Polo, "Meet the Parents"), a radiant but down-to-earth movie star who intuitive-ly responds to Patrick's easy sense of lity, which she encounters only rarely in her showbiz world. Over the caustic objections of her cynical sister, Cheri (Rhea Seehorn), Alex begins dating Patrick, savoring their relaxed chemistry together.

Within only hours, however, tabloid paparazzi begin swarming Patrick's school for photos of Alex Young's new squeeze. It's a glaring spotlight Patrick didn't sign on for, and he finds himself weighing the pluses and minuses of dating a world-famous star.

The opening episode is a model of its kind, managing in the span of about 20 minutes to set up two sharply drawn characters and make viewers care about them, while delivering solid laughs on top of that.

Henchy, who previously had worked with Polo on a busted pilot called "Sugar Hill," still seems to be a little wary of jinxing himself by over-analyzing how "I'm With Her" came together with what seems almost like a sense of inevitabil-

*Casting is a disconcerting process, because a lot of the time you'll get someone that you know is a good actor but he doesn't give you what you are looking for and you start thinking, 'Oh, my God, I'm the worst writer in the world," Henchy says.

"Jeff Greenberg, who did our casting, read the script and immediately said, Teri Polo,' and she came in and nailed Alex so neatly that Marco and I went back and started polishing the character to play to Teri's strengths. I didn't know David's work on 'Gilmore Girls. but his reading was great, too.

"You know, it's like an arranged marriage, and you never know whether it's going to work, but we got incredibly lucky here."

Polo, who notes this was one of the few scripts that didn't call for her to play a mother, says she had wanted to be a part of the show as soon as she heard Henchy was involved, but she also sensed something special the very first time the cast sat down to read the script together.

"When we did the table read, it was almost as if we were doing a show that was already on the air: David, Danny,

Rhea and I just clicked together that quickly, it was remarkable. I think this show must be blessed in some way, she says.

"You know, they say that David's character is Joe Schmo, just this average guy, and I honestly think my character is sort of Jane Schmo, this downto-earth woman who just happens to be a Sandra Bullock-size movié star. She just happens to have had some sizable success in her job, but at heart, she is just this normal person, and I think that's what these two characters respond to in one another. Certainly, that's what draws Alex to Patrick, his normalness

Sutcliffe, who coincidentally was an English major himself in college, says felt a special tingle about the project even earlier, when he showed up to test with actresses who were in the running to play Alex.

"I got the script and thought it was very funny, but I knew nothing of the background, of Chris Henchy's involvement, and frankly, I was wary of doing a sitcom," he says. "I mean, when you're associated with something as good as 'Gilmore Girls,' you want to make sure that you keep raising the bar.
"But I went in to test, and I looked at the guys reading for my part, and the girls reading for the part of Alex, and I saw Teri and just got this very strong feeling: 'It's going to be us.' It was just a very strong reaction the minute I saw her, and we read together and it was like, bang. There it was. The chemistry was just there."

Polo says she loves the way Alex rev els in her stardom even as she also regrets some of its complications.
"I've never felt like I was a victim of my celebrity, partly because Teri Polo isn't,

Teri Polo ("Meet the Parents") stars as Alex Young, a world-famous movie star who falls in love with a down-to-earth high-school English teacher in "I'm With Her,' premiering Tuesday on ABC.

let's face it, Sandra Bullock. But hey, we all love most of the glamour stuff that goes with being in this business," she says. "I mean, my friends just laugh hysterically watching me 'work the red carpet': I love it, and it's part of the game, and it's part of why we are who we are.

"God knows, my own husband has been part of that whole crazy (experience with) photographers going, 'Get out of the picture!' and 'Who are you again?' But he knows that goes with my job, especially since he's been on the other side of that camera himself."

Yeah, but it's still an unsettling place for a "Joe Schmo" to find himself, Henchy says, remembering his first red-carpet appearance with Shields.

"We step out onto the carpet and the lights hit us, and the photographers all around us are shouting, 'Brooke and Chris! Brooke and Chris, over here!, and I'm thinking, 'How do they know my name?' " Henchy recalls.

"Then after just a couple of minutes they start shouting, 'Just Brooke! Just Brooke!' and they wanted me to step aside. That's - um - an interesting place

CBS' new series is all about brotherly love

By Jay Bobbin © Zap2it

The mentor of "The Practice," "Boston Public" and "Ally McBeal" wants to shake up television drama again.

Writer-producer David E. Kelley once more is going against the tide by focusing on middle-aged people, instead of younger characters (and stars), in his new CBS series. Pre-miering Wednesday, Sept. 24, "The Brotherhood of Poland, New Hampshire" relates the challenges faced by three brothers and their families in a small New England town.

Randy Quaid plays Hank Shaw, the short-tempered police chief who is emotionally distant from his distressed wife, Dottie (Mare Winningham). John Carroll Lynch portrays Mayor Garrett Shaw, who is desperate to keep his wife. Helen (Elizabeth McGovern, "The Favor"), from discovering his affair with a recent suicide's wife. The third Shaw sibling, unemployed Waylon (Chris Penn, "Reservoir Dogs"), is worried -as is his wife, Julie (Ann Cusack) about their teenage daughter's (Angela Goethals) affair with one of Kelley's programs can get outrageous, and although "The Brotherhood of Poland, New Hampshire' has some of his trademark whimsy. he wants to keep its feel real. He believes that if viewers "don't say to themselves, 'Yeah, that's a town I've been in or grown up in.' they should at least be able to say, 'I know someone from a town like that.' I've been wanting to do this show for a long time. I was born in a small town (Waterville, Maine), and I have visited many small towns."

Kelley adds, "In fact, every winter for the last 20-some-odd years, I've been going back to a small town in New Hampshire for kind of a highschool reunion. For probably the last 10 of those 20 years, on the Sunday when it's time to go home, I've said to myself, 'If I could capture this in a series, there's something here.' This is not an attempt by me to counterprogram what else is on the air; it's something that spoke to me and that I'm passionate about."

"Brotherhood" star Quaid knows a lot about fraternal love, given his relationship with fellow-actor sibling Dennis. "There's just something about a brother relationship, that you can be as wonderful or mean to each other as you can, but at the bottom of it all, there's still that bond - that love that holds you together as fami-Quaid reflects. "It's a familiarity (in which) not much needs to be explained to get along or to communicate with the other person."

Emmy-winning co-star Winningham, who gets to use her singing talent in the series, also embraces the show's theme as a mother, a daughter and a sibling. "I have three sons who are within two years apart from one another, and I raised them in a small town," she says,. "I'm also one of five kids, and there are dinnertable scenes in this show that remind me of the family I grew up in. Everybody keeps talking louder and louder and louder.

McGovern has done television work in England, where she and her family have a home, and she says she's pleased to make her U.S. series debut in a show about people "having experiences that grown-ups can relate to. I think there's a need for that, and I'm really looking forward to being part of shaping that. This is about mature people coming to terms with their lives, stuff that I think all of us experience. I love to see that on TV.

This year, HBO's "Inside the NFL" enters its 27th season, providing high-lights, interviews and analysis of the past week's grid action while previewing the upcoming weekend's slate.

To what do the show's makers owe such longevity? "I guess a company that stands behind it," quips Rick Bernstein, senior vice president and executive producer of HBO Sports. "I guess people never get tired of the NFL Films highlights. Regardless of all the high-lights that are on television these days, there's nothing that compares to NFL Films highlights, for one, the sound and the look. And secondly, I think we've attempted - and I think been successful - at trying to keep the show fresh and change with the

The Sports Emmy-winning Wednesday night show's regular co-hosts -Bob Costas, Cris Collinsworth, Dan Marino and Cris Carter - are all back this year, joined by reporters Armen Keteyian and Bryan Burwell and managing editor Peter King. Wanda Sykes ("Wanda at Large") also returns, providing irreverent features, and new to the cast is actor-comedian George Lopez, who will alternate with Sykes.

"We really weren't looking, necessar ily, to hire a second person," says Bernstein of Lopez. "We didn't contact agents; we weren't looking for tapes. And George, he was a guest on the Costas show this past season, and that's what really brought him to my attention. I'm not a sitcom person. I wasn't even familiar with his sitcom. But I thought I saw something there that would hopefully be as unique in his own way as Wanda is for our show."

Another strength Bernstein hopes the Another strength Bernstein hopes the show will take more advantage of this year is Carter, who left the program during last season to finish his NFL career with the Miami Dolphins. "The weeks that we lost him last year," Bernstein says, "I definitely think the show suffered. We were almost teased when he started the season with us, and then we lost him, and we realized how much we had lost, because he brought a lot of energy to the set, and we didn't get that back 'til the Dolphins were out of that back 'til the Dolphins were out of playoff contention."

Like any NFL coach, Bernstein hopes to bring his entire "Inside the NFL" team to the playoffs - intact. "I know I'm bragging," he says, "but I do think that the team we've assembled with Costas, with Collinsworth, with Carter, with Marino, with Peter King - I de believe they're the best NFL broaddo believe they're the best NFL broad-cast team in the business.

"I think Bob is considered - and he's certainly been recognized with the - as the best studio host. Collinsworth won the Emmy this past year as the best studio analyst. Carter-has just retired, but he's showing tremendous promise. Obviously, Mari-no's doing well. CBS decided to use him after he had a couple of years with us.

"So I think with the people we've assembled in our studio, we've got, I think, the all-star lineup."

Adding a comedic touch is Sykes, whose segments, Bemstein admits, sometimes need editing for a family audience. "With Wanda Sykes," he says, "we have something that's very unique. We weren't the first to add comedy to an NFL show, but I think with Wanda we present a form of NFL comedy that you don't see elsewhere. There's material and subject matter that Wanda pokes fun at that I'd be surprised if any of the networks would touch some of the material that she chooses to present on our show. And hopefully, we'll get the same thing out of George Lopez this year. I mean, we expect it."

For Costas, who hosted the "NFL on NBC" from 1984 to 1992, this was one of the few football shows he had considered doing. "I never thought that I'd be involved in a football show again," he says. "Not that I didn't enjoy it, but I did it for a decade, and I figured 'been there, done that.' The HBO show is the only show that would've had an appropriate place for me because of the kind of thing that they do. Not just the hosting for me, but the interviews and some of the journalistic pieces and the kind of give and take, I think, taps into my interests and the sort of thing I should be doing at this point and continues what the show has always been

Sports Best Bets

By Mark Passaro

'Women's Soccer" Sunday, Sept. 21 (ABC, 12:30 p.m. ET): A jam-packed day of sports begins with the kickoff of the women's World Cup for the United States, which takes on Sweden at RFK Stadium in Washington, D.C. A majority of the stars from the champion '99 LLS, team are back, including Mia Hamm, Julie Foudy, Brandi Chastain and Kristine Lilly, and with young blood such as Abby Warnbach and Aly Wagn-er, the Americans are favored once again. Sweden is no pushover, Hanna Ljungberg leads their attack.

"Oakland Raiders at Denver Broncos" Monday, Sept. 22 (ABC, 9 p.m. ET): Is this the year the "window of opportunity" slams shut on the Raiders? Too soon to tell, yes, but the signs are there to subtly suggest the egg they laid in the Super Bowl was no fluke. The offensive triumvirate of QB Rich Gannon and receivers Jerry Rice and Tim Brown are a year older, and possibly more susceptible to injury. Denver is betting its hopes - and the reputation of coach Mike Shanahan - that Jake Plummer can be a top quarterback.

"Texas Open" Thursday, Sept. 25 (ESPN, 4 p.m. ET): Loren Roberts played bogey-free golf in the final round of last year's Texas Open, shooting a 6under 64, and that was good enough to hold off a hard-charging Fred Funk and Fred Couples. Those three, along with a host of the PGA Tour's best, are expected back at the LaCantera Golf Club in San Antonio beginning today. The victory made the 47-year-old Roberts the oldest winner on the PGA Tour since Tom Watson won the 1998 MasterCard Colonial at 48.

8 p.m. on 19-PBS Cantors: A Faith in Song

Often similar in tone to a Gregorian chant soloist, cantors are the musicians of Judaism. Traditionally, cantors were males who ended up in their position by virtue of bloodlines. In this special, secular and religious music is performed by cantors Alberto Mizrahi, Naftali Herstik and Benzion Miller.

7 a.m. on TBS 7 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX Movie: Adventures in Babysitting 55th Annual Primetime Emmy

Chris Parker (Elisabeth Shue) gets stood up by her egotistical boyfriend, so in lieu of a good time, she agrees to baby-sit a lovelorn teen (Keith Coogan) and a precocious child (Maia Brewton). A stranded friend calls Chris for help and she must take the entire crew - plus the boy's buddy - to a grungy bus station. En route, they get a flat tire and everything goes downhill from there.

1:30 p.m. on USA Movie: Junior

Ivan Reitman, who directed Amold Schwarzenegger and Danny DeVito in 1988's "Twins," brings them together for another movie about miracles of modern medicine. This time, they play Drs. Hesse and Arbogast, scientists working on an anti-miscarriage drug. When their funding is yanked, they press on, with Hesse as the guinea pig. A borrowed ovum, a little ingenuity, and before you can say, "Mr. Mom," he's pregnant. Emma Thompson and Pamela Reed co-star.

A jam-packed day of sports begins with the kickoff of the women's World Cup for the United States, which takes on Sweden at RFK Stadium in Washington, D.C. A majority of the stars from the champion '99 U.S. team are back, including Mia Hamm, Julie Foudy, Brandi Chastain and Kristine Lilly, and with young blood such as Abby Wambach and Aly Wagner, the Americans are favored once again. Sweden is no pushover; Hanna Ljungberg leads their attack.

Bianca told Maggie and David that she's opting for an abortion, which David agreed to perform the next day. Lena blamed herself for Bianca's pain and was found lying unconscious with a container of poison nearby. When Kendall refused to give Adam back Chandler Enterprises, Adam demanded that Jack take legal action against Kendall and Michael. Kendall pan icked when she learned that a building was scheduled to be demolished. Greenlee reached out to Jack and revealed that she had believed Mary's lies about him. Mary became intrigued when she saw Pablo and Carlos together. Coming: Ryan makes a shocking discovery.

As the World Turns

Carly told Rosanna about Craig's deal with Molly. When Craig lied about it to Rosanna, she left him and considered taking a job as nanny for Sage. Mike rescued Katie moments before the bomb that Mordecai rigged detonated, presumably obliterating Simon, and Katie told Mike she'd never forgive him for taking away her last chance to see Simon. Paul went along with Jennifer's demand that he not interfere with her private life, then arranged to have Henry plant listening devices in Java. Coming: Craig wants Rosanna back.

Bold and Beautiful

Ridge forced Stephanie to apologize to Brooke and promise to accept their marriage. Ridge and Brooke eloped to Puerta Vista, unaware that a terrorist group is operating in the area and that no one with a connection to Marone is safe there. Oscar was almost killed by a thug who took Bridget hostage, but she managed to clock the bad guy with a medicine tray. Amber was devastated when Rick refused to forgive her for fleeing with Eric. However, when Amber heard Oscar reveal that Deacon was run out of Las Vegas for stealing, she hoped to capitalize on the news and get her son back. Coming: Nick is concerned for Brooke's safety.

Days of Our Lives

Roman bought an engagement ring. finally ready to make a commitment to Kate. But when Abe told Kate that he would have to reveal Kate's past as a hooker to Roman, she bought a gun. Sami was enraged when Abe refused to help her get Brandon back, and she stole a security guard's gun. Nicole and Victor were spooked when Abe announced his plan to make an arrest in the Colin Murohy murder. Brady found a bullet and believed Victor and Nicole are keeping something from him. Jack left a message on someone's phone, saying he knows everything. As Jack and Abe left their houses on the day of Theo's christening, a gunshot was heard. Coming: Jack and Jennifer face dan-car went over the cliff - told the police that he saw a male car thief strike Elizabeth. When Alexis challenged Stephen about him killing Darius to cover his role in Summer's murder, Stephen countered by threatening to frame Alexis for Ned's setup. Meanwhile, the judge shocked Alexis, Skye and Ned by awarding Cameron temporary custody of Kristina. One of Alcazar's henchmen photographed Nikolas and Emily kissing and sent the snaps to Lydia. Coming: Georgie makes a decision about sex.

Guiding Light

Shayne was left paralyzed from the neck down. Reva was crushed to learn that Josh had been driving the car that hit Marina and Shayne, and the gulf between them grew. Christopher finally got Lizzie to admit that her feelings and thoughts are not healthy. Nico closed up when Danny commented on his beautiful singing voice. Brad Green, the executive suspected of seducing Lori Janson, threatened to expose Spaulding secrets if Alan doesn't help him. Rick and Mel learned that Mel is pregnant. Coming: Phillip lives through some terrifying moments.

One Life to Live

After Renee and Rex overheard Antonio and Keri arguing, Renee found Keri's body at the Palace, and Antonio was arrested for murder. Gabrielle became the donor for Al's liver transplant, which appeared to have been a success when Al suddenly flat-lined. Asa and Walker cut a deal in which Walker promised to stop going against Kevin in the Sun and Asa vowed to keep Kevin away from Blair. Walker headed to Harrisburg after learning that Kevin and Blair were there. Dorian told Kevin that Kelly

Who shot J.R.? Was it really all a dream for Bobby?

Viewers can rediscover brothers J.R. and Bobby Ewing (Larry Hagman, Patrick Duffy), and the beauty of Southfork ranch in the series "Dallas," which airs weekdays on Soapnet.

The cable network has brought back the popular show, which ran from 1978 to 1991. Hagman says, "You know, I can't tell you why the show was and still is so popular.

"I think everyone has one of these characters in their family. They've got a brother, father, uncle or cousin or something that they despise, but love, too. It's that whole love-hate relationship."

When "Dallas" was taping, there were rumors about unhappy relationships on the set, and trouble with the producers. Hagman says most of those stories weren't true. "Well, there was one year, when Leonard Katzman left the show for a year, that we had another producer come in who had other ideas on where the show should go, and I didn't agree with him. We had some go-arounds, then. He left the show after that year and Mr. Katzman came back." Hagman keeps in close contact with ragman keeps in close contact with some of his former co-stars. "I go hunting and fishing with Patrick Duffy three or four times a year. Linda Gray (Sue Ellen Ewing) was here at the house yesterday," Hagman says. "She and my wife are great friends, and she came up for coffee and to swim. Our families are very close. Sheree Wilson (April Ewing) is back in town, and I see her all the time. We've all stayed a nice close family and friends."

Dear Candace: "Port Charles" is a wonderful daytime show that should have been considered for a one-hour time slot. The show is filled with great actors portraying terrific characters. I really wish ABC would reconsider canceling the show. Or at the very least, they could move some of the actors to "General Hospital" and continue their stories there. Janice Lee, Wichita, Kan.

Dear Reader: There's no hope of "PC" staying on the air. Brian Frons, president of ABC Daytime, says many of the actors will move to other ABC Send questions of general interest to Candace Havens, Soap Talk, Zap2it, 333 Glen St., Glens Falls, NY 12801, or e-mail to soaptalk@tribune.com. 7 p.m. on 4-CBS Navy NCIS

If "JAG" had to give up the time slot it held for many seasons, at least the new occupant is its spinoff. Mark Harmon continues his role from a "JAG" two-parter last season, Naval Criminal Investigative Service operative Leroy Jethro Gibbs. The agent's no-non-sense approach is complemented by teammates played by Michael Weath-erly ("Dark Angel") and Sasha Alexander. David McCallum ("The Man From U.N.C.L.E.") co-stars.

7 p.m. on 38-WB Gilmore Girls

Lorelai and Rory (Lauren Graham, Alexis Bledel) return from their summer excursion through Europe as the show's fourth season opens with "Ball-room & Biscotti." Rory barely has time to unpack before she has to leave for Yale. Sookie and Luke (Melissa McCarthy, Scott Patterson) both have big news for Lorelai, who disappoints her parents (Edward Herrmann, Kelly Bishop) by not showing up at a planned dinner.

7:30 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC I'm With Her

Can an ordinary guy find happiness with a world-famous actress? Writer producer Chris Henchy's experiences as the husband of Brooke Shields provide the answer in this premiering sitcom. David Sutcliffe ("Gilmore Girls") plays an unassuming high-school teacher who gains sudden fame and the envy of his peers and students - when he starts dating a movie star (Teri Polo, "Meet the Parents").

8 p.m. on 4-CBS The Guardian

A young companion to a traveling circus alleges the show's owner molested him as the drama series' second year starts with "Carnival." Nick (Simon Baker) tries to help the boy, whose mother is a performer with the troupe. Nick fears Lulu (Wendy Moniz) won't change her mind about relocating. Burton (Dabney Coleman) tries to keep himself and Nick from facing assault charges for a past incident.

8 p.m. on 19-PBS Matters of Race

In a time of racial profiling and affirmative action, this new two-part documentary examines current race relations in several communities. Part 1 begins with "The Divide," examining the large percentage of immigrants in the workforce of the South. "Race is, Race Ain't" goes behind the scenes at a Los Angeles hospital that largely als with Latino patients. Part 2 airs Wednesday.

8 p.m. on USA Movie: Twins

Julius (Arnold Schwarzenegger), a genetically engineered perfect human specimen, learns he has a less-thanidentical twin brother, Vincent (Danny DeVito), in this sweet 1988 comedy. The two find each other and go looking for their roots — specifically, their mom. Along the way, they discover brotherly love, as well as that of the romantic variety with a pair of sisters. Kelly Preston and Chloe Webb co-star.

Hilary Duff's Island Birthday Bash

The young "Lizzie McGuire" star provides her first of two scheduled WB Network specials by marking her 16th birthday in Hawaii, specifically on the island of Kauai. The hour is a combination travelogue and concert, culminating with Duff entertaining a crowd with "So Yesterday" and other tunes from her recently released compact disc, "Metamorphosis." She also gets a birthday surprise when she's joined by one of her favorite music groups.

7 p.m. on 6-NBC Ed

Fans waited a long time for Ed and Carol (Tom Cavanagh, Julie Bowen) to hook up. The season premiere, "401," finds the lovebirds experiencing some awkward moments on the road to their first real date. Marcy Harriell ("Rent") joins the cast as a pastry entrepreneur who steals Eli's (Daryl "Chill" Mitchell) heart, Josh Randall also stars.

7 p.m. on 54-UPN

Enterprise

Archer, Reed and Hoshi (Scott Bakula, Dominic Keating, Linda Park) undergo unwelcome transformations in the new episode "Extinction." While seeking the Xindi, they land in an alien world where a virus causes them to adopt the tooks and thoughts of the planet's earlier residents. Another alien race must destroy anyone afflicted with the illness, which Dr. Phlox (John Billingsley) tries

7 p.m. and AMC Movie: Tora! Tora! Tora!

The U.S. and Japanese militaries have their own versions of the 1941 attack on Pearl Harbor. Both are told in this innovative 1970 drama, which really is two movies in one since film crews worked in both countries to capture the perspectives. Martin Balsam and Soh Yamamura head the large cast as rival admirals. Joseph Cotten, Tatsuya more, Takahiro Tamura and Jason Robards also star.

6:25 p.m. on ESPN2 Women's Soccer

After opening the World Cup competing against Sweden on Sunday, the United States continues play in their tough draw with a game against Nigeria in Philadelphia. The Nigerian women are one of the most improved national teams in the world, rising from their 1991 China experience of not even scoring a goal to reaching the quarterfinals fours years ago.

Their biggest threat is super-fast striker "Marvellous" Mercy Akide.

7 p.m. and TBS .

Movie: The Net
Sandra Bullock plays a woman whose high-powered computing abilities make her vulnerable to a dangerous scam in this 1995 thriller. Bullock's character discovers villains have changed her identity by tampering with official computer files in order to get their hands on a comput er disk in her possession.

8:30 p.m. on 38-WB Run of the House

Brooke (Margo Harshman) wants to use the house to throw a big bash in the new episode "The Party." Sally and Chris (Sasha Barrese. Kyle Howard) fear Kurt's (Joseph Lawrence) reaction, so they try to prevent him from finding out. The secret only lasts until Kurt and Sally are out on a double date — which quickly ends once Kurt discovers what's going on at home.

8:59 p.m. on 6-NBC ER

Dr. Carter (Noah Wyle) returns from Africa to face an angry Abby (Maura Tierney) in the season premiere. "Now What?" Dr. Pratt (Mekhi Phifer) incurs some temale hostility of his own as Dr. Chen (Ming-Na) reacts negatively to his interest in a new medical student (Parminder Nagra) A construction crew compounds the usual craziness in the emergency room

7 p.m. on 4-CBS Joan of Arcadia

Joan Girardi ("General Hospital" alumna Amber Tambiyn) has a lot more to worry about than the usual teen rites as this seriocomic series vessel for God, since the deity assumes different identities to give debuts. She inexplicably becomes a Joan messages to relay. But all she really wants is to land a date. She, keeps her phenomenon a secret from everyone, even her mother and police-chief father (Mary Steenburgen, Joe Mantegna).

7 p.m. and AMC Movie: Jaws

Thousands of people developed a fear of swimming - even in a lake after viewing this classic thriller, but it made a-young Steven Spielberg a very rich man. Roy Scheider stars as and brave resourceful police chief who teams up with a marine biologist and a shark hunter (Richard Dreyfuss, Robert Shaw) to stop a killer great white from terrorizing the communi-

8:30 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC Life With Bonnie

When his house burns down after he forgets to turn off his iron, David (David Alan Grier) moves in temporarily with Bonnie (Bonnie Hunt) and her family in the sitcom's second-season opener, "Ironing Out Our Differences." Her husband, Mark (Mark Derwin), quickly tires of the unexpected housequest. Fitness guru lack Latanne quest stars as himself in the episode, which also was directed and co-written by Hunt.

9 p.m. on 6-NBC Boomtown

Saturday Best Bets

7 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX Cops

In the first of two "Coast to Coast" episodes, a driver pulled over in a car with stolen plates insists it's his vehicle, but the fact that he's using a screwdriver to run it instead of a key doesn't help his case. Elsewhere, officers investigate a stabbing and find drugs on a man loitering in a park. In the next half-hour, a suspect in a bicy-cle theft tells police he couldn't possibly have any use for a bike, as he has a wooden leg.

7 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC Movie: Remember the Titans

Denzel Washington scored one of his biggest box-office successes to date with this true 2000 drama from the Disney studio. The actor plays a high-school football coach in charge of integrating the facility's first multiracial team in 1971. The assignment gives him plenty to smooth over with students, their parents and other faculty members. Will Patton, Donald Faison ("Scrubs") and Nicole Ari Parker co-

7 p.m. and BRAV Movie: Philadelphia

Tom Hanks stars in this gripping 1993 drama as a gay attorney fired from a big Philadelphia law firm because he has AIDS. He sues with the help of the only lawyer who'll take his case: a seedy ambulance-chaser (Denzel Washington) who doesn't care much for gays. Hanks won the best actor Academy Award, and Bruce Springsteen's "Streets of Philadelphia" won the Oscar for best song. Antonio Banderas and Joanné Woodward also star.

7 p.m. on HBO

Movie: Brown Sugar

Can longtime friends become lovers without jeopardizing their existing relationship? The question is weighed by the couple at the heart of this enjoyable 2002 romantic comedy. A record executive and a magazine editor (Taye Diggs, Sanaa Lathan) reunite in New York, and although each appears to be committed to someone else, they can't stop thinking about each other. Queen Latifah and Nicole Ari Parker (TV's "Soul Food") co-star.

8 p.m. on 4-CBS

Olshansky (David Morse) opposes two corrupt DEA agents as the drama series' second year starts with "See No Evil." New series regular Matt Czuchry plays the duo's target, a young loner who saw them commit several murders. Jacqueline Torres also joins the show as a former nun who's now a probation officer; Andre Braugher ("Homicide: Life on the Street") continues as a co-star.

9 p.m. on 4-CBS The District

Mannion (Craig T. Nelson) returns to Washington, D.C., to try to reclaim the job of police chief as the drama series' fourth season begins with "Jack's Back." He launches a public campaign intended to sway the mayor (Joseph C. Phillips) to rehire him. In the meantime, Mannion finds two new causes: saving a building targeted for demolition and clearing Temple (Sean Patrick Thomas) of a murder charge.

(Ratings for each film begin with a "star" rating - one star meaning "poor," four meaning "excellent" - followed by the Motion Picture Association of America rating, and then by a family-viewing guide, the key for which appears below.)

STARTING THIS WEEK (New releases):

"DADDY DAY CARE": No stranger to slightly edgy family comedies, Eddie Murphy returns to the genre with this predictable but still-amusing tale. Newly unemployed, his character decides to team up with a pal (Jeff Garlin) to open a day-care center that rivals the more exclusive one overseen by a no-nonsense director (Anjelica Huston). She becomes determined to run the guys out of business. Steve Zahn, Regina King and Lacey Chabert ("Party of Five") costar. DVD extras: theatrical trailer; "making-of" documentaries; outtakes; "Early Bloomers" animated short subject interpretive games  (PG: P)

"Early Bloomers" animated short subject; interactive games.  (PG: P)
"HOLES": The popular young-adult novel by Louis Sachar became a "sleeper" movie hit for the Disney studio. Shia LaBeouf ("Even Stevens") stars in the involving story as a youth wrongly sent to a detention camp, where he wonders why all the young inmates have to dig holes. While relating stories of the Old West - acted out by Patricia Arquette and others - the young man discovers the reason the warden (Sigourney Weaver) has ordered the digging. Jon Voight and Tim Blake Nelson also star. DVD extras: audio commentaries by Sachar, director Andrew Davis, LaBeouf, and co-stars Khleo Thomas, Jake M. Smith and Max Kasch; "making-of" documentary; deleted scenes and outtakes; music video.  (PG:

"A MIGHTY WIND": Writer-director Christopher Guest applies the humorous approach that was successful for him in "Best in Show" and "Waiting for Guffman" to this equally sly comedy about the folk-music world. The death of a promoter unites three of the groups he represented, but not all of the members are eager to take part in a tribute concert. Also a star of the film, Guest again casts other witty actors including "Spinal Tap"-mates Michael McKean and Harry Shearer, as well as Eugene Levy, Catherine O'Hara and Fred Willard. DVD extras: theatrical trailer; audio commentary by Guest and Levy; deleted scenes; mock concert and TV appearances by the film's "groups"; mock biographies and album art; song lyrics.  (PG-13: AS, P) "THE SHAPE OF THINGS": Neil LaBute ("In the Company of Men,"

"Your Friends & Neighbors") directs the well-acted screen version of his play about what clearly is his favorite subject - the battle of the sexes. Paul Rudd, who also played the part on stage, is cast as a man whose art-student girlfriend (Rachel Weisz, "About a Boy") is determined to give him an overhaul - both inside and outside. Her single-mindedness doesn't sit very well with his friends (Gretchen Mol, Frederick Weller), who turn out to have some relationship issues of their own.
DVD extras: audio commentary by LaBute; "making-of" documentaries.

"SHOGUN": One of television's landmark miniseries comes to DVD in a five-disc set. Based on the best seller by James Clavell, the 1980 epic about a stranger in feudal Japan stars

Richard Chamberlain as John Blackthorne, an English navigator who narrowly avoids being executed after being shipwrecked. He then becomes a pawn in the political maneuvering between powerful rivals (Toshiro Mifune, Nabuo Kaneko), and he also enters into a forbidden romance with his interpreter (Yoko Shimada). DVD extras: audio commentary on selected scenes by director Jerry London; "making-of" documentary; featurettes on feudal Japan.  (Not rated: AS, P, "SMALLVILLE: THE COMPLETE FIRST SEASON": Now entrenched as one of The WB Network's top hits, the saga of Superman's younger years compiles its first-year episodes into a six-disc DVD set. Tom Welling plays the teenage Clark Kent, who grows up with Earth parents Martha and Jonathan (Annette O'Toole, John Schneider), and and classmate Lana Lang (Kristin Kreuk). The season-finale cliffhanger pulls out all the special-effects stops, with Smallville in the path of a tomado. DVD extras: audio commentary on selected episodes by executive producers Alfred Gough and Miles Millar; deleted scenes; "making-of" documentary; interactive tour of Smallville, DVD-ROM link to http://www.smallville.net. (Not rated: AS, P, V)

You can take Alicia Silverstone out of the movies, but you can't necessarily take the matchmaker out of her.

Eight years after her star-making role as spirited date-arranger Cher in the hit movie "Clueless," the actress makes her TV-series debut in the NBC comedy-drama "Miss Match," premiering Friday, Sept. 26. Intentionally light-weight, the show casts Silverstone as Kate Fox, a divorce attorney who gets into the business of bringing people together. She begins moonlighting as a matchmaker - much to the chagrin of her boss (Ryan O'Neal), who also is her father.

One of Kate's clients (David Conrad, "Relativity") could turn out to be a romantic prospect for Kate herself, though she often neglects her own interests in crusading to improve others' love lives. Executive-produced by Darren Star ("Sex and the City") and Jeff Rake, who previously worked together on Fox's short-lived show "The $treet," the new series also features James Roday ("Showtime") as Kate's co-counsel, and Lake Bell ("War Stories") as her best friend. Jodi Long ("Cafe Americain") co-stars as the law firm's office manager.

Despite the seemingly similar aims of her characters in "Miss Match" and "Clueless," Silverstone says, "I never thought of it that way. This is sort of a magical quest that Kate Fox has. She can't really help it. It's not her goal, but as the show goes on, it becomes a very big part of her life. I think it's just in her nature to have people be happy and to believe in the possibility of love. She's in love with love.

"I just look at it as a great story line," Silverstone adds. "There's so much fun to be had from setting people up and pulling them apart, with all the madness and mayhem that occurs around that. I didn't look at it as a timely thing, although right now, everybody is really fascinated with dating shows. I think it's just that people want to be with someone."

with someone.",
Producer Star also has dealt with the dating game not only on "Sex and the City," but on "Melrose Place" before that. He reasons that "Miss Match" is well-timed because "I think people don't feel they need to get married at a young age the way they used to. They feel they have endless options, and sometimes when you have so many, you're always looking for the next one. The idea that there is sort of a 'right' person out there for somebody is a nice fantasy."

It doesn't have to be a fantasy that always pushes TV's "envelope," Star stresses. "I conceived 'Sex and the City' in a way (counter to) other television comedies about sex that had only used euphemisms," he says. "They were about sex in a roundabout way, and I wanted to do a show in a very Rrated way that could only be done on cable. 'Miss Match' is a show about romance and relationships. We don't need nudity and strong language to tell these stories."

"Miss Match" also is notable for O'Neal's return to television more than a decade after "Good Sports," the CBS sitcom he made with his then-girfriend, Fairah Fawcett. "It felt like something I could do with (the producers)," he says of his new TV role, "and I knew Alicia's work and I admired it. We had a meeting and I read the script with her for, like, a whole locker room of people. I did over 500 episodes of 'Peyton Place,' so I'm comfortable on the small screen. I shrink."

The pilot for "Miss Match" heavily involves a love-seeker played by actress-singer Melissa Errico ("Central Park West"), but Star insists the show won't be a landlocked "Love Boat" driven largely by guest stars. "It's going to have other people's relationship stories," he says, "but Alicia's character is going to affect those stories. (The show has) a wonderful sort of father-daughter element, it has a courtroom element, and it has a wonderful ensemble of actors who have their own stuff going on with each other. You don't have Alicia Silverstone and Ryan O'Neal on a show about other people."

"Clueless" clearly was Silverstone's biggest success to date, but she has updated her resume in various ways. After launching the ABC Family animated series "Braceface" as producer (and principal voice-cast member), she debuted on Broadway last year opposite Kathleen Turner and Jason Biggs ("American Pie") in "The Graducky. I've learned a lot at a young age, and I've learned a lot at a young age, and I've learned to be very particular about material. That was something I really learned through producing. The last thing I have to worry about is great material, which is such a gift. "My intention was to keep going

"My intention was to keep going slowly," she adds, "but I'm so excited again. I'm so psyched about this material and about the character I'm playing. I feel very stimulated by that - but at the same time, there's this little voice that's saying, 'What are you getting into?' My excitement wins over that voice, though."

Alicia Silverstone makes her TV-series debut as a divorce attorney who moonlights as a matchmaker in "Miss Match," an NBC comedy-drama series premiering Friday.
